Kentucky Fire Eaters Get Short Shrift from Furious Crowd.

ONE HANGED TWICE

Another Dying in Jail from Bullet Wound—Marshal Shot in Performance of Duty.

DESPERATE RUNNING FIGHT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Oxford, O., Oct. 1.—A mob at Oxford this evening, angered at the shooting of the village marshal by a Kentuckian named Joe Spivey, took Spivey from jail and hanged him to a tree in the village square. After the man had been twice suspended by the neck, Deputy Sheriff Luke Brannon of Hamilton, pushed his way through the yelling crowd and single-handed cut down the man and bore him away in his arms to the jail.

The rioting began at 6 o'clock, when Marshall Woodruff attempted to arrest Louis Spivey, who had been exhibiting pistols and was drinking whisky in the street. He had no sooner seized Louis Spivey than Joe Spivey stepped back and shot Woodruff down. The street crowd, when it recovered from the shock, rushed for neighboring hardware stores and, seizing shotguns and revolvers, pursued the fugitive. Both the Spiveys drew pistols and a running battle in crowded High street followed.

Deputy Marshal Jake Manrod was shot twice at the first fire. E. Y. Jotter was hit by a stray bullet as he entered his house opposite Oxford college. The fugitives made a stand, firing repeatedly, but the crowd rushed on them.

At the next alley, Louis Spivey turned north and was shot in the side before he had gone 50 feet. He was captured and taken to the police station, where he is dying. In the meantime, part of the crowd pursued Joe Spivey, who ran west in Church street.

In front of D. M. Weismann's house, Spivey made his last stand, emptying his pistol at Letcher Burton, a young negro who led the pursuers. The plucky negro kept on following him across the lots, overtook Spivey in North street. As he came up Burton smashed the fugitive in

M'CLELLAN IS THE NOMINEE

KNIFE WILL BE USED

Brooklyn Men Declare They Will Defeat Him—Fusion Names on Ticket.

JUDGE GAYNOR BADLY BEATEN

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Oct. 1.

Charles F. Murphy shot Niagara tonight and is in the whirlpool.

Tammany Hall, under his leadership, nominated for mayor tonight Mr. Murphy's warm personal friend, George B. McClellan, and completed its ticket by naming for controller Edward M. Grout, and for president of the board of aldermen Charles V. Fornes, the stolen candidates from the Seth Low ticket. The test vote for mayor was: George B. McClellan, 434; W. J. Gaynor, 219.

It was done in spite of a spirited fight by the McLaughlin machine and threats by the Brooklyn leaders to knife the ticket. The bitterness of the contest led the followers of Mr. McLaughlin to refuse to vote to make the nomination unanimous in the cases of Grout and Fornes, and this is taken to mean that Brooklyn will put up other Democratic candidates, and the McLaughlin regulars will do their very utmost to give Mr. Low a majority across the river which will swamp that of McClellan in Manhattan.

The Brooklyn men did all the damage to the prospects of Mr. McClellan they could in one stormy evening. They compelled the committee on resolutions to discard a plan which declared in favor of the nomination of Democrats only, and not of men who had aided the fusionists to capture the city.

It is on the negative of this proposition that Brooklyn will base its bolt of the ticket. The Brooklyn leaders also forced the Tammany machine to reject such a well known and independent Democrat as Judge William J. Gaynor for McClelland and to throw overboard for the rejected candidates of fusion Grout and Fornes two Democrats of lifelong stand-

GENERAL BELL THREATENS TO KILL CIVIL OFFICERS

Conflict Between Judiciary and Military Authority in Cripple Creek Strike Assumes Dangerous Stage—Feeling Runs High.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL., Oct. 1.—The first real conflict which may develop serious results started tonight when Deputy Sheriff Underwood made an attempt to serve papers on Gens. Bell and Chase. He was given to understand that service would not be accepted and Gen. Bell declares he will make it interesting for the district judge and district attorney.

According to Bell, the civil authorities are liable to impeachment for interfering with the operations of the military.

Gen. Bell is credited with having warned the civil authorities that if, in the attempt to arrest the military officials, Robertson or some of his deputies are killed, there need be no surprise expressed by the public.

Upon the advice of Judge Crump, counsel for the military, Gens. Bell and Chase have decided not to arrest Sheriff Robertson and the deputies. It was the intention of the military to throw the sheriff and his deputies in the "bull pen" as soon as they appeared in camp.

Feeling runs high at Camp Goldfield over the matter, and there were threats made that Judge Seeds would be incarcerated.

Editor Kyner of the Victor Record and his men were released today on bond.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., Oct. 1.—Resolutions were adopted by the Federated Trades council here tonight calling on the citizens of the state, regardless of calling, to demand the impeachment of Gov. Peabody for sending the militia to Cripple Creek during a time of profound peace.

DENVER, COL., Oct. 1.—A prominent attorney of the district, who has acted for the governor of the state, said that the act of the judge in issuing the caplases was purely an illegal act and was also the act of the district attorney in filing the information against the military officer.

BUSINESS GOOD WITH AMERICAN BRIDGE CO.

Officials Say Product Is Being Taken as Fast as It Can Be Turned Out.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Officials of the American Bridge Company says the report that the busines of the company has fallen off heavily as the result of strikes, have been greatly exaggerated. One of these officials said today:

"Our mills are running night and day and have been for months. We are accumulating no stock. In fact our business is in better condition than at this time last year. The closing of the rolling mills at Pencoyd will not affect us in the least.

"Considerable progress is being made in the construction of our mammoth new bridge plant in the Pittsburgh district. We shall have several departments in operation next year. I can also deny the statement that there has been a falling off in demand for bridge materials. The railroads have taken our products as fast as we can run them out."

CANTON IRON WORKS DESTROYED BY FIRE

CANTON, O., October 1.—(Special.)—A portion of the Novelty Iron Company's plant was destroyed, with a loss of about $150,000, tonight. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a spark from a passing locomotive. The frame structure, which includes the pattern making department, the setting-up room, coke sheds and scratch room, were destroyed, and the machine shop and other portions of the plant were badly damaged by water.

TWO PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM MEADVILLE JAIL

Alleged Pickpockets, Arrested at Conneaut Lake, Are at Liberty.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MEADVILLE, PA., Oct. 1.—Joseph Morris and John Thomas, two prisoners awaiting trial for picking pockets at Exposition park, Conneaut lake, on August 13, escaped from the Crawford county jail this evening. By cutting the bolts which secured a plate over a hole in the ceiling through which a former jail delivery was effected, the men climbed from their cell in the upper corridor of the garret; then, by means of a rope, made of their bed blankets, reached the ground from an open garret window.

The men were in their cell at 7:30 and gone at 8 o'clock and the officers are wholly without a clue as to the direction they have taken. The Crawford county jail has been several times condemned by grand juries and state authorities as insecure.

Thomas and Morris are alleged to have picked pockets at the United Presbyterian picnic at Exposition park on August 13 and their arrest, after hard resistance, was quite sensational.

TO HARNESS THE FALLS OF SOUTH AFRICAN RIVER

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Sir Charles Metcalf, the well known railroad builder in South Africa, and I. F. Jones, manager of the chartered company, will sail next Saturday for the United States to examine the system by which the power of Niagara Falls is utilized. Immediately after their return the work will be commenced of harnessing the Victoria Falls on the Zambesi river in South Africa.

DOWD NOT LIKELY TO BE TRIED BY CIVIL COURT

Judge Advocate General Davis Says Court-Martial Sentence Will Be Final.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The finding of the court-martial which tried Private Dowd for the shooting of Crowley at the Allegheny arsenal has not yet been received by Judge Advocate General Davis and it is not expected for several days. Gen. Davis said tonight:

"The finding of the court-martial and its approval by Gen. Chaffee will be final and the case will not go to the president for review. The president only reviews those cases where officers are involved or which carry sentences of dismissal from the service. Dowd can be arrested by the civil officers as soon as he is released from military custody and the civil courts will still have jurisdiction over him. Although he has been tried by court-martial, the courts have decided that in such cases the constitutional plea that a man's life cannot be placed in jeopardy twice for the same offense cannot be accepted.

"If Dowd is arrested and prosecuted by the civil authorities, it will be the duty of the United States district attorney to defend him, for the reason that he was performing a service for the government when the shooting occurred. It is not likely that he will be tried by the civil courts if he is acquitted by the court-martial."

SAY SHAFFER WAS GIVEN MILD CENSURE

YOUNGSTOWN, O., October 1.—(Special.)—According to the reports which were circulated in this city after the return of the members of the committee which heard the charges against President Shaffer of the Amalgamated association, the only censure which President Shaffer received was a mild one for not attending the sheet mill conference at Pittsburgh and the meeting of the vice presidents at Cleveland. He will continue in office, and nothing further will be done.

DEMOCRATS FILL VACANCY ON OHIO STATE TICKET

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—At a meeting of the Democratic state central committee today, William W. Wynne, a farmer of Pike county, was selected as candidate for the short term for member of the board of public works to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles A. Goddard.

GREEN AND BEAVERS ARE AGAIN INDICTED

Scott Towers, Postoffice Employe of Washington, Added to the List.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The grand jury today brought in three more indictments in connection with the postoffice scandal. One was a joint indictment against George W. Beavers and State Senator Green of Binghamton, N. Y., on the general ground that they entered into a conspiracy to defraud the government. The former indictment against Green and Beavers was under another section of the statutes and charged conspiracy against the United States.

The other two indictments were against Scott Towers, who has charge of one of the principal sub-postoffices in this city. He is accused of having received a commission the sale of book typewriting machines.

Immediately after receiving information of the indictment of Towers the postmaster general issued an order to Postmaster Merritt of Washington dismissing Towers from office.

In the joint indictment against Beavers and Green the specific accusation is that Green, as the agent of the International Time Recording Company, made an agreement with Beavers that if Beavers would allow Green to have the contract for furnishing the postoffice department with the time machines Beavers would receive as compensation for his services 10 per cent of the sales.

The indictments against Towers allege that he received about $1,800 for having aided the typewriter company to procure the contract for typewriters and that he received $50 out of every $200 paid to the company. Henry J. Gensler and Henry J. Gensler, Jr., are named as the agents through whom Towers did business with the typewriting firm, which is a New York concern.

Towers gave bond in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance.

SIX FIREMEN INJURED WHILE GOING TO FIRE

Chemical Engine No. 1 Upset at Liberty Avenue and Market Street Early This Morning.

While going to a fire at the Mellon National Bank building, at Nos. 312-314 Smithfield street, at 2:20 o'clock this morning, No. 1 chemical engine of the Pittsburgh bureau of fire upset at Liberty avenue and Market street, throwing the firemen riding on the engine into the street and injuring six men.

The injured:

CAPT. E. J. CALLEY of No. 34 Oneida street, Duquesne Heights; hurt about the legs.

W. A. GRIGSBY of Jumilla street; driver; ankle sprained.

ALONZO PHILLIPS of Crawford street; unconscious and injured internally. Condition serious.

C. A. JACKSON of No. 1011 Center avenue; ankle sprained.

CHARLES GRAY, bruised.

JOHN PETERSON, bruised.

When the chemical engine upset the horses stopped almost immediately and this probably saved the men from being more seriously hurt. The patrol wagon from Central police station was called away from the fire to take the injured men to the Homeopathic hospital. At the hospital it was stated that the extent of Grigby's injuries are very serious.

The fire in he Mellon bank was caused by crossed electric wires between the walls of the buildings. The blaze occurred in the banking room, but caused little damage.

LOCOMOTIVE FIREMEN WILL ASK MORE WAGES

Railroad Managers Say They Cannot Afford to Pay More Than Present Scale.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Fifty thousand locomotive firemen have started a movement for a wage increase and uniform agreements. The executive board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, representing 35,000 of employes, is meeting in Chicago to arrange the details. It is claimed that eastern roads pay considerably less than those in the west and a strike in that section is among the possibilities. The increase asked runs from 10 to 20 per cent. At the news bureau of the railways it is admitted that managers have been expecting these demands, but it is claimed the time is not opportune to grant any increase.

SYNDICATE EXTENDED.

Another Year to Be Devoted to Converting the Steel Stock Into Bonds.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The syndicate organized to convert $200,000,000 of United States Steel Corporation 7 per cent preferred stock into 5 per cent sinking fund bonds expired today according to the original terms, but by consent of a great majority of its members has been extended until July 1, 1904. Withdrawals from the syndicate, according to a leading member of the Steel Corporation, have been very small.

The terms of the agreement between the corporation and the syndicate call for a distribution of between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 of bonds to members of the syndicate. This distribution was made in large part today. It is probable that some statement concerning the proportion of withdrawals will be made in a few days.

The sum of $5,000,000 was paid to J. P. Morgan & Co. today as syndicate managers. This represents a call for 25 per cent of the $20,000,000 cash to be paid for a like sum of bonds taken by the syndicate at par.

Change in Cramp Firm.

PHILADELPHIA, October 1.—Announce was made today that Henry S. Grove of this city will succeed Charles H. Cramp as president of the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building Company, and Mr. Cramp will become chairman of the board of directors.

CLERGUE MAKES MASTER STROKE

WILL PAY EMPLOYES

American Soo Plants Will Be Placed in Hands of Receiver Today.

PHILADELPHIANS ARE BUSY

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 1.—The Ontario government announced today that arrangements have been made whereby the Consolidated Lake Superior and affiliated companies will be extended temporary aid and that employes will be paid Saturday.

The Canadian Soos were placarded, setting forth these facts, and the town quietly celebrated the news. Employes in town will be paid immediately, but assigned claims will be carefully scrutinized and speculators who have been buying up time sheets for a small percentage may lose their investment.

The situation in the Michigan Soo has also been greatly simplified. The Michigan Lake Superior Power Company will pass into the hands of a receiver tomorrow at noon. James Bicknell of Toronto, a representative of B. F. Frankenthal, receiver for the American properties of the Consolidated, appeared today before the officers of the company and presented the certified order of the court appointing the receiver and his power of attorney to act for Frankenthal. All arrangements were made forthwith to turn over all the property of the Michigan company to him at noon tomorrow.

L. H. Davis, up to the present time superintendent of the Tagona Light & Power Company, and superintendent of the Canadian Power Canal Company, will be placed in charge of all operations of the company on the Michigan side. The receivership covers only the Michigan Lake Superior Power Company, and does not affect the trans-St. Mary's Traction Company. It is not thought there will be any interruption in the company's operations here. The feeling tonight is more hopeful than at any time since the trouble began.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—At a conference today in the office of F. F. Rothermel, Jr., at which were present officials of the Lake Superior Company plans were discussed to check the foreclosure proceedings next Thursday and to raise $8,000,000 to buy in the property. An injunction will be applied for to stave off the sale by Speyer & Co. The reorganizers are anxious to get pledges from the banks for subscriptions to the $5,000,000 of bonds. A large part of the bonds have been sold contingently, but it is desired to have all of them guaranteed, so that if stockholders refuse to buy them there will still be no failure of the reorganization.

BOLD FORGERS RAISED CHECKS

Extensive Frauds Discovered as Result of Mail Bag Robbery.

NO ARRESTS AS YET

THEFT IS OF WIDE SCOPE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 1.

Two of the most daring forgers in the country are being sought in this vicinity by Chief Postoffice Inspector W. W. Dickson and a large force of assistants, for as bold a series of frauds as have ever fallen under the notice of the government authorities. Banking houses in this vicinity and places nearby have been called upon to cash hundreds of checks that have been cleverly tampered with, their original face value being raised from three or four dollars to as many hundreds. These checks, it has been discovered, were originally part of the contents of a small pouch which disappeared about September 5 from a westbound express train on the Pennsylvania railroad, while in transit between this city and Pittsburgh.

The mail bag's loss was promptly reported to the government officials, and the local postoffice inspectors at once began their search for it. They had no idea at that time of criminal participation. They believed that the pouch accidentally falling from the mail car, had either dropped into a creek or by the tracks, and that they would, in either case, soon come upon traces of it. Their theory was shaken a few days later.

The missing pouch had contained hundreds of checks sent out by local banks and firms to western correspondents. These orders had been drawn, for the greater part, by depositors in this city and vicinity. They were mainly for small amounts, and drawn on a score of banking institutions.

In the course of their investigation the inspectors learned those checks were in the missing pouch. No trace of them was found until a few days since, when a local bank received from an Asbury Park correspondent a check for $800.

The order had been negotiated and had passed through the New Jersey institution unquestioned. It went in the regular course of business to the cancellation clerk in the local bank. The attache was about to deface the check, when the peculiar appearance of the written amount caught his eye. The initial letter in the word "five" was cut off at the top. The clerk threw the check out of the pile and applied a magnifying glass. This scrutiny showed that the payee line of the check had been treated with an acid solution and that another name had

CARNEGIE COMPANY BIDS ON BIG ARMOR CONTRACT

Offer to Make 16,639 Tons for $6,944,000—Midvale Company of Philadelphia Submits a Lower Bid.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Bids were opened today by the navy department for 16,639 tons of armor for the Vermont, Minnesota, Kansas, Mississippi and Idaho. The lowest bid was that of the Midvale Steel Company of Philadelphia, which was $6,656,962. The Carnegie Steel Company and the Bethlehem Steel Company made their bids the same, $6,944,000. They are both underlying companies of the United States Steel Corporation and have between them furnished all the armor used by the government for years.

The fact that they are underbid by the Midvale company, however, does not necessarily indicate that they will not get the contract. They each agree in their bid to begin deliveries of armor under the contract within eight months, while the Midvale company agrees to begin deliveries within 12 months. As the vessels are now building it is not likely that the navy department would wait a year longer to get the armor for them than it can be secured from the other companies, though the price may be less. The Midvale company has no armor plate plant, and if awarded the contract, will have to install one before it can begin the manufacture of armor. There is a difference of $20 per ton in the bids, the Carnegie and Bethlehem bid being at $417 and the Midvale at $397.

President A. C. Dinkey of the Carnegie Steel Company and representatives of the Bethlehem and Midvale Companies, were here to be present at the opening of the bids. Officials of the first two companies have no fear of the Philadelphia concern becoming a competitor.

GENIUS WILL CONSIGN BOILERS TO SCRAP HEAP

Wonderful Steam Generator of Hoosier Inventor Will Supersede Them.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SOUTH BEND, IND., Oct. 1.—Through a wonderful invention by F. S. Smith of South Bend the mechanical engineering world is to be revolutionized and in the future engines will not require boilers to generate steam. Instead they will be supplied with steam generators which is an improvement over anything in its line that the world has ever seen.

Smith's invention was completed within the last two months and the United States patent office has allowed 17 out of 19 claims of the inventor. The invention is the work of four years and every expert who has seen the generator tested is enthusiastic in declaring it to be the leading mechanical device of the century. The greatest advantage claimed for the invention is that it is non-exploding and that it is very simple to operate. Because of instantaneous vaporization of water whereby the latter is immediately flashed into steam, the generator can be used with great success for power and heating purposes.

TWO INCENDIARY FIRES THREATENED MONESSEN

Lumber Plant and Other Property Destroyed—Citizens Are Alarmed.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONESSEN, PA., Oct. 2.—The Peoples Lumber Company plant, with the exception of the office, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss totals $50,000, of which not over $15,000 is covered by insurance.

At 12:45 this (Friday) morning while the firemen were still at the scene of the Peoples Lumber Company fire, flames of incendiary origin broke out in the bicycle repair shop of Bert Foust, a one-story frame building, and started a second fire, which was not gotten under control until 1:45 this morning. This building and the two-story frame dwelling next it were destroyed, with a loss of $10,000. The latter building is occupied on the first floor as a millinery store by Ida and Susan Hatfield, and on the upper floors by the family of John Jolliffe.

Chief of Police E. W. G. Cooper has policemen searching the city, since he suspects firebugs of all the damage here tonight. Owing to the low water supply fighting the second fire is extremely difficult and should it break out again, would practically destroy the business part of the city.

BOLIVAR BANK IS OUT OF BUSINESS

Institution Declared Insolvent by Directors and Currency Comptroller Notified.

RECEIVER IS THEN APPOINTED

Officers Were Unable to Realize Upon Municipal Securities Which They Had Purchased to Enable Town to Make Improvements.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOLIVAR, PA., Oct. 1.—Its reserve fund exhausted, the Bolivar National bank of this place did not open its doors this morning. Unable to realize on their securities the directors of the institution determined to report the bank's insolvency to the comptroller of the currency at Washington. The bank was originated in April, 1902, with a capital stock of $30,000. Bolivar in the last year has shown great progress in public improvements, many of the streets have been paved, a city hall is being erected and a complete sewerage system has been installed. All the improvements were provided for by a bond issue. The bonds were purchased by the bank.

For a fortnight there has been a steady withdrawal of deposits and officers last night reported that the reserve fund was completely exhausted. The board of directors discussed the situation until after midnight last night. An attempt was made to preserve stability of the institution this morning, but it failed and the patrons found the door closed at banking hours.

It was stated by E. R. Hammond, president of the board of directors, tonight that depositors will not suffer losses. John B. Cunningham, the receiver appointed by the comptroller of the currency, will reach Bolivar tomorrow. The directors are E. R. Hammond, B. F. Reese, T. J. Robinson, S. A. Taylor, S. J. E. Houston, T. L. Berky and W. B. Hammond. The excitement which prevailed when it was learned that the bank was closed subsided after the depositors were assured that they would not lose their savings.

The resources and liabilities of the bank, as shown by its last report to the comptroller of the currency, on September 9, were as follows: Loans and discounts, $84,552; United States bonds to secure circulation, $10,862; stocks, securities, claims, etc., $13,000; real estate, $9,085; due from banks and bankers, $12,309; cash and cash items, $6,899; total, $136,321. Liabilities—Capital stock, $30,000; surplus funds and undivided profits, $2,649; circulation, $10,000; individual deposits, $92,878; bills payable, $752; total, $136,321.

NEWSIES AT THE CARNIVAL.

They Made Lots of Noise With Cricket Clappers Furnished by The Gazette.

It was Newsboys night at the G. A. R. carnival at the Arsenal grounds last night. The little street venders held full sway. In order to make the night more to the newsies' liking The Gazette presented each with a pair of cricket clappers, and the little lads made things hum with weird noises on these instruments.

The newsboys took complete possession of the grounds, for they were about 300 strong. Fashion for the time was ignored and the vernacular of the streets and the garments, too, were very much in evidence, if not the whole show. Some of the sturdy self-supporters walked to the grounds, others rode. When they arrived they were taken through all the wonderful shows with which this carnival abounds.

NOT A QUESTION OF GRAMMAR

Controversy in Alaskan Commission Over Definition of a Word.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—On the resumption today of the sessions of the Alaskan boundary commission the solicitor general had an amusing controversy with Senator Lodge over the translation of the French word "crete" (crest). The solicitor-general quoted an unnamed authority and Senator Lodge retorted with examples showing the solicitor-general was wrong. The solicitor-general insisted somewhat hotly on his interpretation and Senator Lodge said he did not think much of the solicitor-general's anonymous authority. Lord Alverstone wound up by saying, "This case will not be decided by rules of grammar."

Mrs. John W. Foster and Mrs. Jacob M. Dickinson afterward entertained the members of the commission at tea.

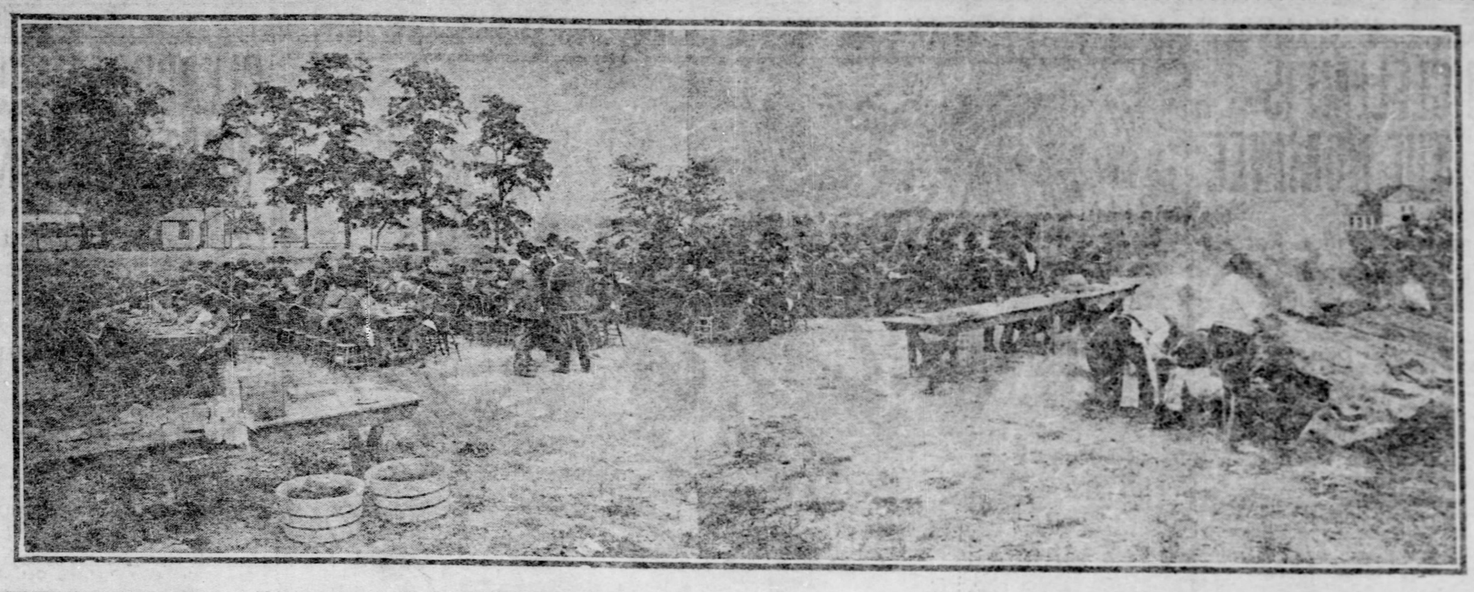
South Side Hospital's Great Benefit Clambake.



HALF A THOUSAND MEN EAT BUSHELS OF CLAMS

Regiment of Pittsburghers Feast on Sea Foods and the Proceeds of the Dinner Go Into a Hospital Treasury.

Five hundred Pittsburghers yesterday ate clams and the numerous other good things which go with a "bake." The feast was served in Southern park and the proceeds go to the treasury of the South Side hospital.

Clam bakes are rare in Pittsburgh, and when Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, president of the hospital proposed that one be given in order to secure funds for an addition needed to the institution, the announcement was well received. William F. Hammel took charge of the eating end of the entertainment and this was a guarantee that the feast would be a feast. Capt. Lish West, a noted New Yorker, was engaged to superintend the bake. When a half-thousand men had stuffed themselves with clams, blue fish, lobster, spring chicken, roasted corn and baked potatoes, and there still remained a ton of steaming sea foods, it was the unanimous opinion that the bake was a success.

The majority of the guests were attending their first bake and great interest was shown. When one was within two squares of the park the aroma of cooking sea food was in the air. A huge pile of steaming sea weed, covered with a tarpaulin was all that the visitor could see. He was informed by Capt. West that everything was "doing weel," and the cover could be taken off about 5 o'clock. Tables sufficient to seat 500 people had been arranged within a few feet of the bake.

While the meal was cooking, plenty of entertainment was furnished the guests by the Blainey quartet, some vaudeville artists and a brass band. Another amusement was drawing chances on a $250 team of ponies to be raffled off for the benefit of the hospital fund. Almost every politician in the county thinks that he has the winning number in his pocket.

The guests were seated soon after 5 o'clock and the tarpaulin was pulled off the bake. Mr. Hammel tackled the pile of steaming sea weed with a pitchfork. Each time the implement brought up a bunch of good things to eat and a corps of waiters promptly distributed the viands.

LAUGHS AT REVOLVER, WIFE PULLS TRIGGER

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Tearful and repentant, Mrs. Frances Kurtz, a bride of a year, was held without bail in Yorkville court today to await the result of the injury of her husband, whom she shot early this morning.

"I didn't mean to shoot him," said she, after the policeman had told the charge and she had been held. "I did and I didn't. I was mad enough to kill him at that," and the eyes flashed.

"We were married a year ago in Pittsburgh and came here. My husband did not do as well as he expected, and some of my jewelry was put in pawn. He would not take it out yesterday nor give me the money to do so, and we quarrelled. Why, he said all kinds of mean things to me—told me I was extravagant and I don't know what else, and told me if I were a man he'd punch my face, and I told him to try it if he dared. He didn't hit me, so I kept at him until finally he told me to get out of the house. Then he picked up a pair of scissors, and I went to the top drawer and took out the revolver.

"I was mad. I pointed the pistol at him, and he laughed at me. That made me madder. I just touched the trigger, and it went off. I'd give anything in the world not to have done it."

The bullet that Mrs. Kurtz fired into her husband hit him in the shoulder. He cursed a bit and she screamed. Then she recovered and hurried him to a drug store. A policeman was attracted and believing the matter was beyond the point where it could be termed a family argument he sent Kurtz to the hospital and arrested Mrs. Kurtz. Before they separated they had kissed and made up.

PENNYPACKER ADDRESSES OLD SOLDIERS AT ERIE

Governor Assures Veterans That the State Will Supply Their Needs.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ERIE, PA., Oct. 1.—Gov. Pennypacker, at the urgent request of the 500 veterans of the Soldiers' and Sailors' homes, remained here until this afternoon and delivered an address to the men. He presided over a meeting of the soldiers' home commission this morning. Adjt. Gen. Thomas J. Stewart, secretary of the commission, said that a great many matters were discussed and that many improvements at the home will be recommended to the building committee. During the day the governor received and accepted the resignation of Maj. Richard S. Collum, commander of the home, owing to ill health. Major Collum has been persuaded by the governor and commissioners to continue in charge of the home until March 1, next year, when his resignation takes effect. Col. W. J. Maxwell, adjutant of the home, may be appointed successor to Maj. Collum.

The chapel of the home was filled with veterans when Gov. Pennypacker appeared to address the men. The governor's speech lasted half an hour. He devoted his talk to the welfare of the soldiers and military matters, not touching upon politics. He called attention to the heroes of Pennsylvania who served to crush the rebellion and said that the soldiers must be protected and cared for by the state. He congratulated the men on the neat appearance of their rooms and assured them that anything within reason that they wanted would meet his approval.

After the speech the body of soldiers marched in single file around the room, passing before the governor, who spoke to them pleasantly. Many of the men stopped to shake hands and speak with Gen. Stewart and the other members of the commission. The gubernatorial party left for Harrisburg.

JAPAN WILL SEND SOLDIERS TO KOREA

PARIS, Oct. 1.—According to reliable information received here, Japan has decided to send two regiments of infantry to Korea. This is regarded in authoritative quarters as being a most important step as affecting Russo-Japanese relations and as likely to accentuate the possibilities of a war crisis. Japan's decision is considered to be directly related to Russia's proposition to evacuate Manchuria on October 8. It is accepted in the highest quarters that this evacuation is impossible of accomplishment, as China has not signified the terms on which Russia conditioned her evacuation. The advices further show that the war spirit in Japan has materially augmented during the last fortnight.

BOGUS CIGARS SEIZED BY REVENUE OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—A number of arrests have been made recently of persons peddling an inferior quality of cigars made in New York, but having the marks and brands changed so as to make it appear that the cigars were manufactured at Key West from Havana tobacco. The practice is in violation of the internal revenue laws and officers are making seizures of the bogus cigars wherever found.

ing and reputation, Julian D. Fairchild and Herman O. Metz. The speeches of the Brooklyn orators were full of sinister meaning and if anything is indicated by the result it is that on Manhattan alone must Mr. Murphy depend for the election of Col. McClelland, for the fusion campaign in Brooklyn has been made in advance.

M. Linn Bruce, chairman of the Republican county committee; Timothy L. Woodruff and Edward Lauterbach had a long conference tonight at the Lotos club at which the present political situation as it affects the fusion ticket was thoroughly canvassed. It was decided that if the Citizens Union city committee decided to remove Grout and Fornes from their ticket then Woodruff, as chairman of the Republican city convention, will issue a call for the reconvening of the Republican city convention on Tuesday night next.

The executive committee of the Citizens Union held a protracted meeting today, the matter under consideration being the replies of Grout and Fornes to the letter of R. Fulton Cutting. Practically no decision was reached and the matter will come up for final action at a meeting to be held tomorrow night.

Pretty Wedding at the Home of the Bride's Parents in Crafton.

Isabel McAteer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McAteer, of Ridge avenue, Crafton, and Morton McKee Boyd, of Perrysville avenue, Allegheny, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, at 6 o'clock last evening. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. David McAllister, pastor of the Eighth Street Reformed Presbyterian church, was witnessed by only the relatives and a few intimate friends of the couple. At the reception, however, hundreds were present by invitation to extend their congratulations. Miss McAteer, who is a cousin of Miss Myrtle McAteer, the tennis champion, had only one attendant, Miss Helen McAteer, her sister. The bride was attired in a dainty creation of crep de chene, trimmed with Duchess point lace. She wore the customary veil, and carried a cluster of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. A brilliant adornment was a costly necklace of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mr. Boyd's best man was his brother, D. Harton Boyd. Howard McAteer, his cousin, and Dr. George McKee, were the ushers. Elizabeth Stewart and Dorothy McAteer, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

Shortly before midnight Mr. and Mrs. Boyd departed for an extended southern trip.

No Surface Disturbances During Construction of P. R. R. New York Tunnels.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Charles M. Jacobs, engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad tunnels from New Jersey to Long Island, had a busy time of it today answering all manner of questions put to him by the contractors who visited his office with the purpose of finding out all the requirements of the bids advertised for yesterday.

"When we begin our work," said Mr. Jacobs to a reporter, "the people of New York will never know that thousands of men are cutting a way under and across the city. There will be no tearing up of streets and there will be no surface obstruction. Then when it is all over, when the boring from one city to another is completed, the people of New York, New Jersey and Long Island will know that the work has been done."

Mr. Jacobs would give no probable estimate of the cost, but it is thought that the aggregate cost will reach $100,000,000.

been substituted. The original value had been $5. The word "hundred" was written in adept imitation of the maker's chirography.

The postal inspectors traced the check to the possession of a man in Asbury Park, who opened an account with a bank there and later deposited the fraudulent check. Another bank here found a check for $700 among a batch sent from a New Jersey correspondent. It had been raised from $7, and the indorser was the same as that of the first altered draft. Some of the largest financial institutions in the city have found themselves in the possession of the bad checks.

Chief Inspector Dickson declares "the Philadelphia end is only a small part of the matter." It is stated that during the investigation the postoffice inspectors discovered a pile of torn checks, in number about 1,200, in a New York lodging house. These checks, it is said, were so marked that any raising of their amounts would be impossible without immediate detection. The arrest of the individuals now under suspicion, the authorities intimate, will bring to light an astounding fraud, with ramifications extending through the entire eastern section of the country.

It is said here that Pittsburgh will not suffer extensively, as it is believed most of the checks were drawn on institutions in the vicinity of Philadelphia.

FIVE MEN SHOT DOWN IN RIOT

the head with a rock knocking him senseless. The mob which now had a rope tried to get him but it had no leader and the officers got their man inside. Soon a sullen mob of several hundred formed. Marshal Woodruff's aged father, a farmer, arrived soon after. At 8 o'clock the mob reformed under the leadership of Woodruff's father, who became more violent as time passed. Finally at 9:30 o'clock, the mob reached the police station, encountered no resistance, and entering the cell room, seized Joe Spivey, who had recovered consciousness. A rope was put about his neck and he was hustled out to the old elm tree where Henry Corbin, a negro, was lynched 12 years ago.

The man cried for mercy. The rope was thrown over a limb and Spivey was jerked up. His hands had not been tied. Grasping the rope, over his head, he pulled himself up and, gurgling and choking, begged for a moment to write.

Negroes Take a Hand.

"Let him write and pray!" shouted some humane persons. The man was let down and a piece of paper given him. He began to write, crying all the time to slacken the rope. At this moment the negroes took a hand.

"If he was a nigger you would not give him time," they shouted, and, seizing the rope, they jerked Spivey into the air. He would have been dead in a few moments but for the resolute action of Deputy Sheriff Brannon, who rushed in, and with a knife cut the rope. Spivey fell, and Brannon grabbed him and ran for the police station before the mob could interfere.

The mob pursued, but Brannon got his man into the station, and ex-Mayor Peter Flanagan and Deputy Horace Cormier vowed to kill the first man who entered. The baffled mob stood around for an hour. Speeches were of small effect until Woodruff's brother, Samuel, appeared, and, calling upon the mob, he said:

"Men, I am John's brother. I love him, and for his sake I beg you to go home, as John would want you to do."

While the mob was being addressed the deputy sheriffs took both the prisoners out of the rear of the jail and spirited them away to Hamilton in buggies. This was done just before the mob disappeared.

MARSHALL, TEXAS, October 1.—Tonight a mob of several men forced their way through the brick wall of the city jail, with the aid of a telephone pole and with sledge hammers and crowbars, took out Walter Davis, a negro, and marched him to the west side of town, where he was hanged to a tree.

The lynching was the result of the killing of Constable Hayes this morning while he was taking a negro to jail. Hayes was shot from ambush, being literally riddled with bullets. Shortly after killing the constable, Walter Davis and two other negroes were arrested and lodged in jail at Marshall. A mob formed during the afternoon and attacked the jail. The Marshall musketeers were ordered out and arrived at the jail after the mob had secured the negro.

"I think the chances for ultimately effecting a complete union of the two branches are good. I am pleased with the spirit shown at this meeting and hope for great results before the conferences shall have been concluded."

ENGLISH ELEVEN WON.

The Kent Cricket Team Defeated the New Yorkers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The third game of the tour of the Kent County Cricket team was concluded with Staten Island today. The visitors won by 124 runs after declaring their second innings closed with 75 runs for four wickets. The New York batting proved disappointing for while three wickets had produced 83 runs, the remaining seven added only 17. In the second attempt at bat the men gave a poor exhibition, and but for a short stand by A. C. Lanrie and J. Adam, the score would have been small indeed. Adam placed 13 to his credit, giving him a total of 44, and incidentally won the prize offered by the president of the Metropolitan Cricket league to the batsman of the New York team with the best record.

The Kent team left after the match for Philadelphia where they will begin their first game tomorrow on the grounds of the Manoa C. C. at Haverford.

BLOW IS FELT BY THE MACHINE

Bigelow Crowd in the Dumps Over the Revolt in the Sixth Legislative District.

NESBIT MUST MAKE GOOD

Democrats Now Rely on the Pension Agent to Carry the Territory for the Citizens—Republican Door Is Always Open to the Voters.

"Jim Dumps" was very much in evidence at Bigelow machine headquarters yesterday. The withdrawal of the Citizens party organization in the Sixth district was a hard blow. It means that they put it practically out of the contest in that populous section of the county.

The bosses made a weak attempt to underestimate the effect of the action taken by the Sixth district committee Wednesday night when it denounced the pledge breakers and declared for the whole Republican ticket.

Even the satisfaction of discharging Chairman John H. Campbell from his clerkship in Recorder J. D. O'Neil's office was denied the bosses, as Campbell yesterday sent in his resignation. This has not been done by Pension Agent John W. Nesbit, who holds a fat office under a Republican administration and devotes most of his time assisting in the management of the Democratic campaign.

Nesbit was called to the assistance of the Bigelow machine yesterday. He has been given charge of the district and told to do what he can. Mayor William B. Hays has appointed W. W. Mechling to help the pension agent. Last night the mayor announced that the Citizens had decided upon a policy of not making any promises of jobs in advance. The principal reason for this is that every appointment the machine could have in case of success is now plastered with options.

Doors Are Always Open.

The revolt in the Sixth district was the political sensation yesterday. All day long men from every section of the county reported at Republican headquarters that they proposed to follow the lead of the men of the Sixth district and leave the Citizens' ranks, returning to the Republican party. In this connection Republican County Chairman Thomas J. Ford said:

"The doors of the Republican organization are always wide open for all voters who desire to assist in the fight for good government and are opposed to sham reform.

"The voters of the Sixth legislative district are beginning to learn that they are being bunooed by the Citizens leaders, as the voters of the two large cities have been bunooed," said Secretary Charles A. Muehlbronner.

"The people of the Sixth district," he continued, "asked for nothing but what was right and honest when they requested the leaders of the Citizens party to live up to their campaign pledges. When these leaders not only failed, but absolutely refused to keep their promises, it was eminently proper that the men who had supported them should find they had reached the parting of the ways. The men who attended Wednesday night's meeting and renounced the Citizens party were a representative body, men of influence in their communities, respectable and law-abiding."

Will Be Well Treated.

L. L. Davis, who lives in the Sixth district—in Homestead—said: "The conditions in the Sixth district are only typical of the conditions prevailing in all other sections of the county and attracted notice chiefly owing to the strenuous endeavors made by the Citizens leaders to maintain their former organization intact for this campaign. However, voters who at prior elections voted the Citizens ticket will find when they return to the Republican party that that fact will not be taken into consideration to their prejudice. The men who vote the Republican ticket this fall will be treated without regard to past political affiliations."

Amos Mashey of Marshall township made an encouraging report to county Republican headquarters yesterday. The Republican candidates carried the township by a comparatively small majority last fall, but Mr. Mashey is confident that this will be greatly increased next month. The Citizens organization in the township, he says, is rapidly disintegrating and the voters are returning to the Republican party with regrets for having left it.

Mr. Mashey's family will give six votes for the Republican county ticket in November, the fifth son attaining his majority a few days before the election. Mr. Mashey is an old-time Republican. He was a delegate to the recent prothonotary's convention that nominated Major J. B. Hamilton, and had attended as delegate 20 county Republican conventions before that.

Will Be a Big Meeting.

Secretary C. A. Muehlbronner of the county Republican committee expects a record-breaking attendance at the mass meeting in Allegheny Carnegie Music hall tomorrow evening. The issues of the campaign are to be put plainly before the voters by Major Robert E. Stewart, candidate for sheriff, Attorneys James Francis Burke and Charles A. O'Brien and Representative John Francis. Francis J. Torrance will call the meeting to order. In addition to convincing oratory, there will be quantities of red fire and plenty of good music, the latter furnished by the Knights of Pythias band and the Blaney quartet.

The Republicans of Homestead at a meeting yesterday in the office of J. Clyde Miller selected campaign committees for the coming election and arranged plans to poll the largest Republican vote in the history of the borough. Harmony exists among all the factions and Homestead, West Homestead, Munhall and Mays boroughs will be one of the Republican strongholds in November.

Pressed for active political workers the Citizens party has forged the appointment of a clerk in the bureau of health. Director Harry Moore, of the safety department yesterday appointed St. Clair Cooper of the Twenty-first ward chief clerk in the bureau of health to fill the position formerly held by John C. Henry, who was relieved when the present administration went into office.

W. D. Gearheart, assistant superintendent of the Third district of the bureau of highways and sewers, resigned yesterday to accept his old position as captain of engine company No. 7. Samuel Allen who has been an employe of the bureau for 15 years was appointed to succeed Gearheart.

The Republicans of Knoxville last night formed a permanent organization to conduct the campaign. John A. Moore was elected president; E. F. Weber, vice president; John M. Ross, secretary, and Frank F. Troth, treasurer.

Will Inspect Tarentum Sites.

Representatives of the American Shovel and Stamping Company of Lorain, O., will meet a committee of Tarentum citizens today, when it is expected a permanent site for the company's works will be selected. The company, it is said, has practically decided to remove its plant to Tarentum, and as soon as a site is decided upon the removal of the plants will be started.

MAYOR HAYS IS ROOSEVELT'S EQUAL IN STRENUOUSNESS

Pittsburgh's chief executive is developing a strenuousness equal to that of the nation's chief. Mayor William B. Hays had a run-in with a persistent and probably undeserving office-seeker recently, and the latter nursed a painful black eye and a bruised shoulder in consequence for several days thereafter. The affray occurred in front of City hall.

The office-seeker had repeatedly called on the mayor since his induction into office for the purpose of landing a job. At the start the mayor told the man there was nothing doing for him. But the man persisted and hung around the mayor's office for several hours each day. The mayor got to dodging the man and hurrying out of the office whenever he saw the man in the outer room.

Far from discouraged the man kept on coming. On the day in question he hid behind a pillar in front of city hall and waited for Mr. Hays to come out for his lunch. The mayor came along and started hurriedly up Smithfield street toward Fifth avenue. He had not seen the man. The latter ran after the city's chief and caught him by the end of his coat to attract his attention. The mayor faced him fiercely.

"I allow no man to pull my clothes apart," fairly shouted the mayor, as he handed the persistent one a good blow on his right eye. The man was crushed up against the iron railing around the hall and his right side was badly hurt.

The mayor strode angrily on.

OFFICIALS WILL EMPLOY EXPERTS

Despite Rodgers' Opinion, Filtration Resolution Will Be Carried Out.

MAYOR BELIEVES IT LEGAL

Others Have Passed That Way, He Says. No Call Out for Meeting of Select Council to Consider the Linear Tax Franchise.

City Solicitor William B. Rodgers' opinion that the resolution adopted by councils authorizing the employment of three experts to revise the filtration estimates of Director E. M. Bigelow, of the public works department was passed illegally, is likely to be ignored by the city officials. No steps to adjust the complication in the dispute have been taken and the finance committee will probably act under the provisions of the ordinance.

Mayor Hays stated yesterday the reason he signed the resolution was because he believed it had been passed in a regular manner. He said he could see no reason why he should not attach his signature.

"There are many resolutions," said the mayor yesterday, "providing for the payment of money which are passed in the same way and there has never been any question raised concerning them. I have received no official notice from the city solicitor that the resolution is illegal or any advice not to sign it. If there was anything wrong I should have been officially notified."

Just what steps Controller Larkin will take in the matter is not known. He is on record as saying his position will be influenced solely by the advice of the city solicitor.

City Clerk Edwin W. Hassler on request yesterday sent a copy of the resolution to the finance committee of councils. William H. Stevenson, the chairman of this committee, said yesterday the regular meeting of his committee will be held next Tuesday night and the filtration resolution will be taken up then. He thinks the experts can be appointed under the resolution adopted and that if there is any question as to the authority for paying out the money for the expenses of the investigation this can be arranged by putting in another ordinance to expressly provide for payment.

No call was issued yesterday for the talked-of meeting of select council for next Monday and there is little likelihood of an effort being made to have the meeting then. If a meeting of select council were called the linear tax franchise would be taken up. It was announced yesterday morning by Chairman S. J. Wainwright of the rump finance committee that a meeting of that body will be called for some time next week. He said the franchise tax would be ready to report back to select council at its next regular meeting.

Just what will be the attitude of the combine in select council on the franchise tax ordinance is not definitely known. It is claimed the reason the combine held up the measure last Monday was simply to show it still could control a majority of votes in the upper branch when it wanted them and at the same time give its special committee on finance an opportunity to make a bluff at being interested in public business.

Robbed of $1,000 in a Crowd.

John McGrath, of the McGrath Provision Company of South Nineteenth street, was robbed of his pocketbook, which contained $1,000, Tuesday afternoon at the ox-roast given by the merchants of Mt. Washington. McGrath said he was in a crowd and he felt his pocketbook slip from his back pocket. Turning quickly he accused a stranger near him of having committed the offense. The stranger denied all connection with the robbery, and when searched the pocketbook was not found on him.

Make haste to reach the EXPO. tonight, for the peerless, gracious SOUSA positively closes his concert series tomorrow evening.

KUNZ IS DISCHARGED.

No Evidence to Show He Was With Crowley Outside the Arsenal.

Max Kunz, a Lawrenceville youth who was alleged to be implicated with William H. Crowley, who was shot and killed by John Dowd, a United States soldier at the arsenal on Sept. 10, was given a hearing before United States Commissioner William F. Lindsay yesterday and discharged.

Daniel J. Lamar, the Allegheny Valley railroad fireman on whose evidence before the court martial the charge against Kunz was brought by Lieut. Ralph W. Drury, commandant at the arsenal, testified that he was not sure that Crowley's companion was Kunz and that he had not seen the latter since he was a small boy.

No other testimony was taken and Commissioner Lindsay ordered Kunz's discharge.

Today Women Have a Chance at Handsome Suits

For Greatly Reduced Prices,

Both Women and Girls Have a Chance at Stylish Coats

For Greatly Reduced Prices,

And Everybody Has a Chance at Blankets

For Greatly Reduced Prices.

It is fair to assume that you are already acquainted with this news, it having had somewhat of a display yesterday afternoon, but the sales with the accompaniment of reduced prices, are so unusual at the beginning of a season as to warrant the widest kind of publicity.

The facts are that we have a great lot of Suits in the many different styles favored by women, which come under the head of odd lots, the several lines having been sold down to where only a few suits of this and that style remain. In any one line there is not a full range of sizes, but taking the collection as a whole, the size range is creditable.

The Suits for Reduced Prices.

Women would not be women did they not stand up for latest style. Every woman wants a long coat suit, but every woman is not so particular regarding the long coat suit for everyday wear. In all the lines of suits at reduced prices, with the exception of the $10.00 line, there are long coat suits. With this explanation we again give you the figures.

$10.00 a Suit reduced from $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00—both dress and walking styles in Eton, Blouse and Short Coat effects. Both fly front and tight-fitting. The materials cheviot, broadcloth, melton, navy, etc. Most of the suits are in solid colors, but there will be found a sprinkling of mixtures. A regular range of sizes throughout the line, 32 up to 40.

$15.00 reduced from $25.00—Long Coat Walking Suits of that greatly favored material, zibeline, oxford blue and gray mixtures. This is one of our most popular suits, and the only reason for the big reduction is that the sizes have got down to where they must be classed as odd.

$15.00 reduced from $20.00—a number of now Long Coat Walking Suits of Cheviot, the coat finished with patent leather belt. These suits have the regular seven-gore skirt. A snappy suit and one that women will appreciate.

$20.00 reduced from $25.00—while the reduction on this line of dress suits is not so pronounced as on the lines of walking suits, the bargain is just as attractive in every way.. This is a short blouse suit of black and blue cheviot—blue predominating—silk lined throughout and having a silk drop skirt. It is trimmed in a pretty way with taffeta, novelty braid and medallions. The jackets have the latest up-to-date sleeve.

$25.00 reduced from $30.00 and from other prices up to $45.00—in this line is included long and short Coat Suits, blouses, and tight fitting Jackets, the materials being plain black and blue cheviot and mixtures in novelty cloth. Some of the suits are silk lined, some lined with satin, and there are both walking and dress suits. To our mind this is the best special in this special sale.

The Jackets for Reduced Prices.

Let style stand aside for the moment and take up the matter of comfort. What so comfortable these cool mornings and evenings, indeed we might ask what so dressy, as the natty tan covert jacket? It will do no harm to again refer to the list of reduced prices—

$3.50 —reduced from $7.50—today short 19-inch Jackets of tan covert, not all sizes in any one line, but taking the range as a whole there are sizes from 34 to 40.

$5.00 —reduced from $10.00—another and finer grade of Tan Covert Jacket, with a range of sizes thrown in, 19 inches, 24 inches and 27 inches. There is, as you will notice, a fair choice in this line as to size.

$10.00 —reduced from $15.00 and $18.00—both Jackets and Long Coats of tan covert, and each is silk lined through and through. Handsome garments in every way, possessing all the neat finishes that women so much admire.

$15.00 —reduced from $25.00—still another line of short and long coats of the favored tan covert. The grade of cloth is very fine. Some of these jackets are lined with excellent silk, and many of them have the strap effect trimming.

The Reduced Prices on Girls' Jackets.

The little girl of six can come with her mother today and be fitted in a smart little jacket and the big girl of 16 can come by herself and choose a neat Jacket at these reduced prices. In between there are jackets for about every age.

For Girls 14-16 years of age—Short Jackets of black, brown and blue cheviot and kersey, all lined throughout with satin. Now, these jackets sold formerly for $8.00 and $10.00. What do you say to one of them today for..... $3.50

For Girls from 6 to 12 years of age we will sell at greatly reduced prices today a big lot of coats, cheviot and fine kersey, blue, brown, red, tan—some with capes and velvet collars—all lined with satin. The reduction: $3.50 instead of $7.00; $6.00 instead of $10.00; $7.50 instead of $12.00 and $15.00.

Special Sale of Sample Blankets.

Today we will have on sale, basement, 300 pairs of Sample Blankets from three of the leading blanket manufacturers of the country. The lines offered are of same quality and make as those we carry regularly in stock.

Every person knows that best specimens are carried as samples, and while these blankets have been used by road men and some of them a bit tousled, yet the opportunity is presented to save from a fourth to a third on each pair of blankets. As the lots are limited, it will be best to be in this basement dept. as early as possible. Only a few quotations:

One lot of $4.00 blankets for $3.00 a pair.
One lot of $5.00 blankets for $4.00 a pair.
One lot of $6.50 and $7.50 blankets for $5.00 a pair.
One lot of $8.00 blankets for $6.00 a pair.
One lot of $10.00 blankets for $7.50 a pair.
One lot of $11.00 blankets for $8.75 a pair.

To make this sale of Blankets more spicy, we announce 250 Sheets made of New York Mills muslin—81x93½ inches—torn hems—worth the country over 80c, special..... 65c apiece

Gen. Corbin's suggestion that young officers in the army should not marry is as well appreciated by those most directly concerned as that famous advice of Punch on the same subject. No less than 10 young officers are preparing to take brides with them to the Philippines at the end of this month. In this decision the young men will have the sympathy of the public, without any reflection upon the soundness of the Corbin advice, and there will be general acquiescence in the suggestion of another old commander that the transport be painted in pink and white, with cupid for a figure head. We believe that President Roosevelt stands ready with a "bless you, my children," for the young officers and their brides.

Despite the apparently cooling ardor of Bulgaria, Europe is much interested in the visit of Czar Nicholas to Emperor Francis Joseph at the palace at Schoenbrun. It is widely believed that the fate of the Balkan states is to be decided at that conference and that what the czar of Russia and the emperor of Austria have to say to each other is of great import to Turkey. The sudden recall of Tewfik Pasha, Turkish ambassador at Berlin, just at this time excites comment, since it is thought the sultan may desire information concerning the imperial conference and that he may be able to get it through the court at Berlin. This supposition is hardly credible, though it is not the first intimation of a secret understanding between the kaiser and the sultan.

This is the date, by agreement, when Prince Ching should sign the American treaty opening two additional ports in Manchuria to the commerce of the world. This treaty is everywhere regarded as a triumph for American diplomacy, erstwhile yclept "shirt sleeves diplomacy." The Americans have been able to do rather more with China in a purely diplomatic way then other nations and the reason is not far to seek. China is fully assured that the United States has no designs upon its territory, and it is equally sure that in every way the United States has dealt frankly and honorably with the Chinese government. In the indemnity matter it dealt liberally with China, and probably if it had been asking ports for its exclusive use they would have been granted more readily.

Japan, it is reported, is sending two regiments of troops to Korea. This is connected in some way with the promise of Russia to evacuate Manchuria on October 8, an event which is not expected to take place on schedule time, partly because China withholds agreement to the Russian proposals. The connection, however, is not clear. Two Japanese regiments cannot drive the Russian troops out of Manchuria, especially not by locating in Korea. If Russia has designs upon territory in that quarter, as the Japanese are supposed to believe, the presence of Japanese troops will be rather an inducement to Russia to keep its own troops in that quarter than to withdraw them. If Japan wants war, however, instead of evacuation, the sending of its regiments to Korea is much easier of explanation.

President Roosevelt is expected to pass up to congress the Indian lands and postoffice department scandals, with suggestions for further investigation and for legislation to render such abuses more difficult in the future. This does not mean that the president will abandon any investigations or prosecutions now under way, but that he will frankly invite any assistance congress can give him in cleaning up the government bureaus, and that he believes legislation may be devised to encourage honesty. In this belief there will be general agreement. The disclosures made by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow indicated that laxity in the system has been responsible for many irregularities. It is the province of congress to impose a rigid system of conduct and accounting.

The latest advices from the middle east is that the war spirit in Bulgaria is declining and that Bulgaria's representative at Constantinople has resumed diplomatic negotiations. The Russian note has probably caused this change of tune, as the fact was made plain that Bulgaria has much to lose and nothing to gain by going to war. She would stand alone and would probably be beaten by Turkey. The European powers would probably prevent Turkey from holding the country, but Bulgaria would be subjected to disabilities that would be a heavy load. The Macedonian insurrection was probably planned with the idea that if Macedonian independence could be accomplished that province would eventually follow the example of Roumelia and unite with Bulgaria, but the European powers saw through the game and took care that it should fail. The restoration of order in Macedonia will probably soon follow the collapse of the insurrection stirred up by the Bulgarian bands.

The Mayor's Interpretation.

There is a saying that there is no telling what a law really means until it is construed, and this appears to hold good of new charters as well. The idea has been that the new charter concentrated responsibility upon the mayor, so as to make him the mainspring of the municipal administration, but it is being construed to mean that the real function of the mayor is to distribute offices, and that he is not to be expected to have anything to do with the ordinary management of public affairs. The charter authorizes the mayor "to call special meetings of councils, or either of them, when required by public necessity." This leaves the point open, what is a public necessity, and Mayor Hays is making some interesting rulings on that point.

When effort was being made to hold a meeting of councils to get the filtration matter out of committee and do something to check the typhoid fever epidemic killing an average of 10 persons a week, he held that this was not a matter of public necessity, and councils had to convoke themselves by passing around papers for signatures. Another recent ruling of the mayor is that the passage of an ordinance to require the public service corporations to make compensation for their franchises is not a matter of public necessity, so he will not call a meeting of select council for next Monday night. As the representative of the entire community the mayor might be expected to take a lively interest in such matters, but his policy appears to be to avoid public responsibility.

But while Mayor Hays is very scrupulous as to legality when it suits his purpose, there are times when he lays aside his scruples. A case of this kind is his approval of the Brown filtration resolution. Although the city solicitor advised that it had passed councils illegally, that didn't bother the mayor at all and he signed the resolution without delay. The actual rule of legal construction which prevails in the mayor's office appears to follow Tim Sullivan's maxim that "the constitution is all right, but it shouldn't come between friends."

Race Problem in Hawaii.

The Hawaiian islands, it appears, are at the present time half Japanese. It may be recalled that when there last was an acute situation between Russia and Japan with regard to Russia's occupation of Manchuria, there was an expressed fear that Japan was about to summon home members of her army reserve who were employed on the sugar plantations of Hawaii. The Japanese consul at Honolulu, in reassuring the sugar planters, disclosed that there were 20,000 Japanese in the islands who were subject to a call to the colors if the mikado should have need of them. A great deal of surprise was caused by this and much doubt was expressed at the time, but if there are from 60,000 to 75,000 Japanese in Hawaii, it is not beyond reason that the consul's figures as to the number of reservists among them is not above the mark. It is to be remembered that Japan has a military organization modeled on European standards, and that much is required of male citizens in the way of military service. It is also to be remembered that after the war with China a large number of men who had been called into active service for the war were from time to time released from duty, which might have caused considerable disturbance of the Japanese industrial balance had it not been that soon after Hawaii was opened as a promising field for their labor. The tide of Japanese emigration to Hawaii ran strong for many years. It may be recalled that in the days succeeding the deposition of the monarchy, and while Hawaii as a republic trembled on the borders of admission to the United States, sentiment favorable to its admission was promoted here by declarations that Japan contemplated seizing the islands. There was then a considerable Japanese population and a stream constantly flowing in from Japan. It was asserted that this stream was composed of soldiers, disguised as plantation laborers; that they came under command of their sergeants and other non-commissioned officers, and that there was a purpose underlying it. These soldiers in disguise were, however, only men who had been released from active service, and if there was an ulterior motive in directing them to Hawaii it is yet unrevealed. But the result has been to make the Hawaiian islands more Japanese than American and Hawaiian in the lower strata.

Th subjects of the mikado who sought a new island home entered Hawaii as plantation laborers, but have not remained so. They have been quick to seize opportunities to better their condition, and now plantation labor is comparatively scarce, while the building and mechanical occupations are being monopolized by the little yellow men, and Honolulu and the other towns swarm with their little shops. There was a Labor day parade in Honolulu three years ago, it is said, and the long line of white carpenters, bricklayers, masons, painters and mechanics made a creditable showing. On Labor day last month there was no parade, because the white workers have been nearly all crowded out by the cheaper labor of the orient. Practically all the skilled labor, it is said, is now Japanese. They have been rapidly graduating from the plantations, and they have also been raising families, for when they arrived they brought their wives and children with them or sent for them as soon as they could. Another generation, even with no further influx from Japan, will see the Hawaiian islands pretty thoroughly Japanesqued.

Much is made of the vices imported with the new population. It was inevitable that these should come, but it is not vices, but the virtues of thrift, industry and enterprise that have crowded the whites aside. It is also probably true that the real objection to Japanese is not these vices which are now complained of, but the virtues and the overwhelming numbers. If the numbers and the enterprise and the thrift were not present small account would be taken of the oriental vices that are now coming to fatten on the prosperity that has been achieved, and to debauch. Hawaii, however, has a real race problem, because of the little men from the land of the mikado, who threaten to dominate its life and who may also, when the new generation, born on the soil, grows up, dominate its politics. This race question is not yet acute and is perhaps more academic than practical, but it contains possibilities.

Cheers for Chamberlain.

At the meeting of the Conservative association of Sheffield, the name of Joseph Chamberlain was greeted with cheers, while mention of the resignations of C. T. Ritchie and Lord George Hamilton evoked cries of "good riddance, good riddance." The Conservative association of Sheffield is not all of England, but its attitude is indicative of a strong sentiment for protection, at least in some quarters in England. It is not likely the Conservative association contains all of the protectionists even of Sheffield, which is a manufacturing town that has felt the sharp touch of foreign competition. The association probably includes in its membership manufacturers and merchants who would hail with delight some measure of protection for their industries, though accompanied by a tariff on food stuffs sufficient to give a preference to the productions of the colonies.

It is not from this class that Mr. Chamberlain need fear opposition. His heavy task will be to convince the workingmen of Great Britain that a policy which means an advance in the cost of living will be a good thing for them. They are probably as ready as the manufacturers to welcome a system that would make better wages possible, but they will have to be very sure of this result before they will vote for even the slightest duty upon bread and meat. They have become accustomed to the tax on beer and tobacco, as representing their share of the cost of government, and they will not easily be won to consent to having the burden shifted to the substantial ingredients of their Sunday dinner.

Many facts have made it plain that while the English workman is almost as devoted to his political duties as to his union, he is not as alert in comprehending economic polices as his American cousin. The Englishman's convictions, whether practical or sentimental, root deeper. The sentimental love for free trade has withstood all argument and triumphed over the fact that American and German wares are being sold under the shadow of competitive English factories. Mr. Chamberlain's talk is to open the eyes of British workmen and awaken them to the practical side. It would be less difficult of accomplishment if his doctrine was straight protection, without the sentimental annex of a preferential duty on food products in the interest of the colonies. It is by no means certain that the mass of Englishmen have any sympathy for the colonies that is strong enough to induce them to pay for it.

Grout and Tammany.

A new phase is added to the very mixed political situation in New York by the letter of explanation of Mr. Grout. He declares that he is committed to the Low administration and is ready to stand or fall upon its record. He avers that he is opposed to Tammany and its methods as much as when he revolted against it three years ago, and that if he is indorsed by the Democratic convention it will be absolutely without conditions, as he will assent to no condition, except to support the Low administration. Mr. Grout also says he did not seek nomination by the Republican party or Citizens union, but having been nominated and having done nothing to merit ostracism, he denies the right of any man or organization to destroy his candidacy; moreover, that if his name is on no party ticket whatever, he will still be a candidate and will fight as hard for election as if he desired the office, believing that to be the only course consistent with honor under the circumstances.

It now becomes a question whether Tammany will carry out its plan to indorse a candidate who repudiates it simply because he is a Democrat. And if Tammany indorses Grout it will be a perplexing question what the Republicans and Citizens union ought to do with a nominated candidate who announces himself openly as entirely in sympathy with their aims. The object of Tammany has obviously been to indorse the two Democrats on the Republican-Citizens union ticket in the hope that their names would attract votes to the candidate for mayor on its ticket. Mr. Grout's letter does not prevent the consummation of that plan, though it may excite the anger of the Tammany following against the writer. Mr. Grout could have cleared the atmosphere, might have gained many friends and would have better demonstrated his loyalty to the Low administration if he had sent out, instead of the lengthy explanation and apology, a simple declaration that he would not accept a nomination from Tammany. That would have ended the controversy and relieved Mr. Grout of all suspicion of double-dealing.

The troubles in the Woman's National Auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans resulted in a scrimmage at New Haven Tuesday night in which clothes were torn and hats knocked endways. Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball, the suspended president of the District of Columbia corps; Miss Cornelia Clay, the suspended treasurer general, and two other suspended officials tried to force their way into the convention, but the women inside were too strong for them, and after a sharp engagement shoved them back by main force, and the door was slammed in their faces catching and severely bruising Mrs. Ball's hand. Then the victorious party sang, "America, the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave." Mrs. Ball then obtained an injunction from the New Haven courts restraining President General Flora Lewis and her officers from interfering with Mrs. Ball and her squad. Pending decision of the case, the legal questions involved, Mrs. Ball was allowed to enter the convention at the evening session.

The municipal campaign in New York city is approaching a condition that will make the meeting of the feminine auxiliary of the National Army and Navy Spanish War Veterans' association seem like a church sociable.

An Appeal to Reason.

The letter which A. C. Bartlett has addressed to leading representatives of labor and capital is worthy of attention not only on account of the sound advice which it contains, but because of its temperate tone, says the Chicago News. In warning both trades unionists and employers of the perils to which protracted industrial disturbances must lead, Mr. Bartlett recognizes that each side is dependent for its success upon the other and in the long run what injures one must injure the other. Instead of warring on each other Mr. Bartlett urges capital and labor to meet and reason together as to their mutual needs and requirements.

This appeal to sober judgment may be trite, but it is common sense, and its timeliness gives it especial value and force. Mr. Bartlett points out that union organization is a legitimate and proper means through which to seek consideration for the rights of labor. As used by the original leaders of the labor movement and as still used by responsible, wisely conducted labor bodies, trades unionism has been proved beneficial. Bad counsels and irresponsible leadership have led to a different policy on the part of some of the newer organizations so in time these elements may "neutralize much of the good that has been accomplished, undermine the unions themselves, and jeopardize their existence." On the other hand, the attitude of those employers who withstand demands of their workmen which plainly are justifiable, and must be met in time, serves simply to create needless friction and impose losses on both sides.

More Technical Schools.

Mr. Schwab, late president of the steel trust, has determined to endow a number of technical schools. This is a better use of the revenue from steel than that which Prof. Harry Thurston Peck has pointed out, says the Baltimore American. There can be no question concerning the need nor the very general desire for these schools. With rapidly developing industries and the introduction of new methods it is necessary to success for the young to be equipped differently from the obsolete ways in vogue half a century ago. The latter is too much like the snail trying to overtake the steam engine. There are thousands—and there always will be—who prefer scholastic education and training in the ordinary sense. They have time and money to gratify their tastes, and not a few of them reach distinction in after life. Technical schools will in the future be the leading means of education for the bulk of the population. The latter are unable to pursue an elaborate scheme of education embracing the public school, college and university. The conditions which surround them require that they should begin life's struggle early, and the school which fits them practically for the conflict is the one to which the majority will go.

WHEN YOU THINK ABOUT IT.

When you come to think about it—on this old, terrestrial ball,
Rimmed with roses in the springtime, heaped with fruitage o' the fall;
Though we all were born a-growin', and we're axle-deep in doubt,
There is really very little for the world to growl about!

('Cept the coal bill an' the gas,
An' the grocery bill-alas!
An' the ancient bill for rent,
When you haven't got a cent!
An' your friends say, "Times'll brighten: Be content!")

When you come to think about it—did your growin' ever pay?
Did it ever bend a rainbow—chase a thundercloud away?
Don't it deafen all the angels when they try to sing an' shout?
Don't they know that you have nothin' in the world to growl about?

('Cept the labor, long an' sad,
For the dollar, good or bad;
An' the thought—from dark to dawn,
That the jingling dollar's gone!
An' your friends say, "Times'll brighten: Labor on!")

When you come to think about it—but the best way's not to think!
There's a spring there, by the wayside: Stoop, ye travelers, and drink!
There's a green tree in the desert 'neath a firmament o' blue;
And a hive that's drippin' honey for the famished lips of you!

(But the tree is far away,
O'er the desert, dim and gray;
An' the fates seem not to know
That you want the honey so!
An' your friends say, "Times'll brighten: Let her go!")

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The girl who has a red nose would give almost anything to get rid of it. At least she says she would. But will she?

It has been shown that tight lacing is a fruitful cause of this annoyance. Even a corset without being very tight laced may so disturb the circulation as to cause various local congestions.

Girls don't mind a dash of red on the cheek, but when it gets on the nose, or on the hands, or behind the ears, they don't like it at all.

Nor can they powder the nose so as to effectually hide the red without causing that prominent member to look as though it had been rooting in a flour barrel.

Of course, our young lady, with the pink proboscis will not throw her corset away, nor will she pull any less tightly on the strings. She never does lace tightly—only just enough to give her some shape, you know.

As between a red nose and a shape—well, it is up to you, dear girl.

"From eating comes sleep, from sleep digestion," says Sanctatorius, and no one has ever shown him to be wrong in his statement.

Darwin, after carefully studying the habits of the brute creation, says that all animals invariably lie down and enjoy a state of rest as soon as their stomachs are filled. His observations on mankind were to the effect that people who are delicate digest their meals much better if they lie down and sleep as the animals do.

It has often been shown by experiment that dogs do not digest food while running. Farmers and those who work horses and oxen know every well that their feed does them but little good if put to work as soon as they have finished eating it.

It has been stated by very good authorities that plants grow at night. During the day they accumulate energy from the sunlight, which is used at night to assimilate and dispose of the materials which constitute their substance.

Night was evidently designed as a man's period of rest, or rather, man was constructed on a plan in which night figured as the period of rest. To change the plan upon which the human body is constructed is impossible, but it is possible to go contrary to the provisions of the plan in the erection of the superstructure.

The times for rest and sleep come with the utmost regularity, and are adapted exactly to the time and the season. In winter, when there is increased waste of material on account of a greater amount of heat being required to keep the temperature up to the standard, the nights are longer. In summer, when less heat is required, the nights are shorter.

Sunlight is stimulating, therefore, not conducive to rest in its fullest sense. But few animals, save nocturnal prowlers, stir at night unless they are hungry. The higher order of animals, particularly, go to sleep early and rise with the sun.

Any one who has lived on a farm remembers seeing the sheep and cattle rising as the sun comes up over the hills, yawning and stretching themselves before beginning their breakfasts. Some may remember when it was a part of their daily work to drive the cows up, and how they warmed their bare feet by standing in the beds from which the cows had risen.

Birds are probably earlier risers than beasts, some of them quitting their roosts at the first appearance of light, singing, flitting and hustling around in search of food.

Soldiers remember how they and their horses used to sleep as they marched along. Strange as it may seem this was often the case. There seemed to be no trouble in performing the mechanical part of walking, but there was a tendency to wander off the road. For this reason sleepers had to be guided or led by some one who was awake.

The time Kirby Smith chased Gen. Nelson and his men from Lexington, Ky., to Louisville he didn't allow them a moment for rest, and what sleep they got was snatched as they marched. The men were mostly new to the business, but even the old fellows had to succumb about the third night. At times it seemed that the whole line was asleep, but it moved right along.

When Gen. Jackson and his cavalry joined the retreating forces his men were nearly all asleep in the saddle, and not a few of the horses were snoozing as they went loping leisurely to the front. They seldom stumbled on a smooth road, but if there happened to be a halt they would go headforemost into the crowd, and waken up scared and confused.

As soon as the first rays of dawn began streaking the horizon the sleepy, tired feeling that possessed the weary walkers would begin to disappear, and by the time the dawn had faded into day the men were stepping out quicker, and stronger, the horses holding their heads up and all hands looking out for something to eat. The effect was magical.

* * * * *

There are few, either young or old, who have not noticed a marked difference in the effects of light and darkness on their nervous systems. Those who work at night find it difficult to sleep in daylight, and when they succeed in getting the usual number of hours put in, they find that they are not rested and refreshed as when they slept at night. Sensitive persons, or light sleepers, often find it impossible to get into the way of sleeping during the day. There are others who are not so sensitive to the effects of sunlight, who get along better, but none ever rise so refreshed and invigorated as when they sleep at night.

Darkening a room does not obviate the trouble entirely. Unless very elaborate and complicated blinds are used a few streaks of light will get in, or the ventilation of the room will be destroyed. Even the best ventilation and darkest blinds cannot neutralize the stimulating effect of air that has been vitalized by the sunlight.

The individual who works at night is simply flying in the face of fate. He is shortening his days and injuring his health, and the most of them know it.

The bookkeeper who pours over his books at night, after having already done a fair day's work, is inviting nervous and physical debility and mental weakness. While doing this he is also fitting himself for an attack of typhoid, typhus or brain fever, besides rendering himself liable to fatal attack from any epidemic that may happen along.

Counting rooms, as a rule, are dark, dingy places which a direct ray of sunlight can never penetrate. This is a fatal error. Much of the vital energy consumed by accountants and other brain workers may be replaced by the vital energy shed on the earth by the sun, and they should be in a position to get as much of it as possible. The dyspepsia, crankiness and illnature of those who work by gaslight both day and night is mainly due to a lack of sunlight. The human body, like a plant, derives the greater portion of its vitality from the sun. This is absorbed and gives strength to the organs employed in restoring the waste tissues of the body.

Weakly persons, those in declining health, dyspeptic and nervous invalids will find a better tonic in sunshine and more curative power in rest than in any medical compound ever invented. Sunshine, a generous beefsteak and game diet, and restful exercise has cured more cases of consumption than ever did patent medicines, or any other kind, for that matter.

Simply walking or driving out in the sunshine will not answer. The waste goes on constantly, so must the processes of restoration. Not only must they equal the destructive processes, but they must exceed them in activity until the body has regained its wonted form and weight, the vital organs resumed a healthy condition and a perfect equilibrium has been established.

When the system is in good condition it will store up sufficient vital energy above what is necessary to maintain a proper equilibrium to meet all reasonable demands for mental or physical activity. In emergencies the reserve stock, or even a portion of the capital may be required, but these must be promptly restored or the bank will break.

Those who keep their mouths shut when they sleep never snore.

Good air, and plenty of it is one of the conditions necessary to secure refreshing sleep. The ears may get used to the din of hammers, the rumbling of cars, the shrieks of steam whistles or the rasping roar of escaping steam, but the system can never be inured to vitiated air.

Those who prefer reading, studying or writing at night on account of the quiet that usually prevails at that time, should remember that they are drawing on their reserve vitality, and unless they are very careful to replace it they will sooner or later be bankrupt.

Ladies grow beautiful in form while they sleep. Their eyes, lips and cheeks are tinted and brightened by the pearls of sunlight, while sweet temper and amiable disposition are the twin offspring of good digestion.

Talked of in New York

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Millions of dollars in New York are waiting for the decision at Kansas City in the Parks case. If Sam Parks and his union should be so successful in their several aims as to beat Frank Buchanan in the election of a president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, it will mean that the millions will mostly be kept in the banks or safe deposit vaults. If, on the other hand, Parks is flattened out, there may be an opening up of building operations to a limited extent this fall and winter. A great deal of this is waiting for an opportunity to begin, but Parks can stop it all if he finds that he is powerful enough to order the election as he wishes it to go. Among iron workers the feeling is divided, but there is no question about the trend of opinion in the city at large. The election will take place tomorrow. When it is over there will be more known about building probabilities than can be guessed today. However it may be there is at least one of the new theaters ready for opening and the others will be pushed along vigorously, whether Parks controls the general situation or not. You may bet that conviction expressed a score of times by going among managers who are interested in new theaters. Nelson Roberts, and old-time Pittsburgh manager, who will open the Harlem auditorium when it is completed, expects to get in by January 1. He thought originally that he would open the house on October 1, but Sam Parks interfered.

Episcopalians Satisfied With Greer.

The choosing of Dr. Greer to be Bishop Potter's coadjutor gives general satisfaction to Episcopalians of this diocese. It was known from the first that Dr. Greer would be favored, but there was some fear that he might feel inclined to interfere on account of the heavy work already on his shoulders.

An Object Lesson in Hustling.

A Pittsburgher in town today showed hustling New Yorkers a method of extending business that was characteristic of Pittsburgh "git-up-and-git." He had to see nearly a dozen men in the course of the day and was anxious to do his work with as little delay as possible. He knew that if he dropped into their offices unannounced he would find in many cases that they were out or engaged and that it would be necessary for him to go again, after making an appointment. He hired a messenger boy by the hour, gave him a list of the business men he desired to see, and sent him around to them, with a request that they would make an appointment with the Pittsburgher, bidding the boy be careful that the times set should not clash. Messenger boys are pretty shrewd and the manager took care to give the Pittsburgher one of the best he had. The lad went around to the various addresses and came back in the course of an hour full the addresses were within a small radius downtown, with a list of engagements which could be easily kept. The result was that the Pittsburgher, with his list in his hand, went from one to the other, and did all that he had to do in little more than half the day. "It is a great institution, the American messenger boy," he said, with a sigh of relief, as he sought a cafe for luncheon. He might have added that Pittsburgh gumption is a good thing, too.

Carnegie Hall the Storm Center.

Carnegie hall was the center of attraction for a large number of persons tonight. While the big hall was filled with delegates and spectators of the Democratic city convention there was a big gathering outside whether frequently bulletins of the doings inside were brought and where much discussion of the political situation made the time pass quickly. It is generally the case at an important convention that there is a big overflow, but the street convention tonight was larger than is generally seen, even in New York.

Sick Policeman May Not Use Alcohol.

Any policeman in New York using alcohol when under the care of the police surgeon and against medical orders will be "broke." That was the order of Deputy Commissioner Davis today. A patrolman named Donahue, suffering from jaundice, was brought before the deputy commissioner by Police Surgeon McGovern, charged with using alcohol against orders, and gave the tribunal the chance to make this decision.

Flint Will Fight For Damages.

Charles R. Flint, the well-known organizer of business combinations, has the swiftest yacht in the world, the Arrow. The craft came into collision with a submerged scow last August and was badly damaged. Mr. Flint filed a libel in the United States district court, Brooklyn, against the company owning the scow, asking for $65,000 damages. The defense is that the Arrow was going faster than the legal limit in these waters. Mr. Flint will fight persistently, no doubt, because he is a persistent man. I remember his telling me a few years ago, when the Arrow was in course of construction, that he would have the fastest yacht ever seen in New York harbor, and when I suggested that it might be dangerous he laughed and said that he supposed that went with anything worth while.

Woman Surgeon Sets Broken Limb.

Women surgeons in New York are making a record for themselves in first aid to the injured in city streets. Manhattan has a woman ambulance surgeon who has done some excellent work from a professional and humane point of view and now we have Dr. Elizabeth N. Jarrett, who happened to pass along when a man was run over by a heavy truck, and had his left leg fractured in three places. Dr. Jarrett produced splints and bandages from the kit she carried and the fracture was reduced and the leg bandaged before an ambulance arrived. When it did come, the surgeon warmly praised the young woman's work, as she gathered up her skirts and tripped away, as unconcerned as if she had just come from a shopping expedition.

Footad's Profitable Venture.

Union square is a pretty busy place at all times of the day and night, but a man walking across there last evening was knocked down and robbed by five men as easily as if he had been in a desert. They knocked him into insensibility and "pinched" his "super," "front" and "leather" at their leisure. When their victim came to he looked for a policeman, but not one could be find. He says there did not seem to be one anywhere in the vicinity. This is a hint for headquarters, surely.

Kentucky Pardons.

The feud problem in Kentucky has puzzled and amazed sociologists, reformers and religionists. It has never been solved. The implacable family hatreds that lead to such dastardly homicides seem beyond the comprehension of most men. * * * Beginning with the pardon record of Gov. John Brown, in December, 1880, 1,151 persons, before they entered the penitentiary walls, have been pardoned of crimes of which they were convicted by the courts; 120 men sentenced to life imprisonment have been set free after they served an average of seven and a half years, and 247 persons who committed some kind of felony have been also set free. Until the pardoning power is taken from the governor and the courts are compelled by public sentiment to give a more rigid administration of law, there is little hope of wiping out this form of lawlessness in Kentucky.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Miller Case.

The president's restatement of the Miller case is in his best vein. It shows a thorough grasp of the question, and the full courage of his convictions. To be sure, the question at bottom was simple, but a fog of blather had been blown about it in an effort to embarrass the president, and this he has lifted and dispersed. He takes no stand against organized labor, but a stand in favor of all labor, within and without the pale of organization. He could do no less, as he frankly declares, under his oath of office. The government cannot be made an instrument for driving men into or out of labor unions. It must protect all of its citizens, so, to the extent that it does not, confess to failure. Organized labor has achieved much in the past few years, and deserved all it has achieved. But it cannot be congratulated on some of the recent moves made in its name. The whole Miller business has been wretchedly bungled. Labor unions cannot be brought into antagonism with the government without injury to the former. The government will always prevail.—Washington Star.

From the general principle laid down by President Roosevelt there can be no flinching. If Mr. Miller is to be dismissed, he must be dismissed on charges such as might be instituted any and every other employe in the government service. The determination of his personal fitness or unfitness to discharge the duties of the post he holds is, as the president rightly says, a "question to be settled in the routine of administrative detail." But he cannot be retained or ejected because of beliefs, associations or affiliations beyond the recognition of the law, however much those beliefs, associations or affiliations may offend the sensibilities of labor unionism and of the men who shape its policy. The president has settled the dispute in which our settlement alone was compatible with law and justice. The great mass of citizens will heartily commend the vigor and the clearness with which he has exposed the sophistries of the labor unions' illogical and undemocratic contention.—New York Tribune.

The decision of President Roosevelt in the case of W. A. Miller is creditable alike to his judgment and to his courage. * * * It is thus settled, so far as a strong precedent can do so, that there is at least one employer—the federal government itself—to whom labor unions cannot dictate as to whom it shall employ, or on what terms. The president remarks that "the law of the land" which he is sworn to administer "does not make any case in which the government of the United States is a party from all other cases whatsoever." While this is perfectly true from the president's official standpoint, it may well be added that the fundamental assertion of his ruling—the right to employ and to accept employment free from intimidation or interference by any authority unknown to the laws of the land—in short, freedom of contract—is as sound and as necessary to be upheld in its application to employers and employes generally as to the federal government and its employes.—New York World.

Mr. Roosevelt, far from being "unfriendly" to organized labor, has shown personally more sympathetic interest with it than any president has ever before done, and is, in fact, about the last man in the country who deserves the condemnation which the bookbinders' union in Washington has been endeavoring to have the labor leaders impose upon him. But he could not go so far in his sympathy as to allow a man's fitness to serve the government to be determined according to the tests and facts of men who as an organization have no connection whatever with the government. It is difficult to understand how any workingmen who studies carefully and thoughtfully the principles which the president has laid down in this case can fail to recognize the fact that he has acted not only in accord with public opinion but that he could not possibly do otherwise unless he were to involve the government in constant confusion over irresponsible demands from all kinds of outside organizations. His decision is based on common justice to the people at large; to change the principle on which it rests, the consent of the people to a change in the government or its laws would first be necessary, and if the labor leaders see fit to raise this issue it is one which they have a perfect right to submit to the people themselves for final decision.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

It is a good thing for the whole country that this matter has come up. At the time the president intervened in the Anthracite coal strike, in the interests of the millions who were injured by it, the action was criticised by some persons, on the ground that his attitude would be assumed to be in favor of labor union exactions, and would be followed by increased strikes and other union troubles. This was a narrow and one-sided view of such action. He is president of the whole people, and his duty is, so far as his executive powers go, to maintain equal and exact justice to each and all. He did this in the coal strike; he has maintained this attitude in the Miller case. The vast majority of the people of the United States uphold him then, as they will uphold him now.—Toledo Blade.

President Roosevelt has done the only thing that was to be expected of him, in unequivocally reaffirming his position as to the relation of the United States government to the question of union or non-union labor among the employes.—Baltimore News.

After conference with the council of the federation of labor, the president reaffirms his refusal to remove Assistant Foreman Miller from the government printing office on the ground that he is a non-union man, and announces that his decision is final. His reasons are embodied in a statement which he made to the committee, and which he gives to the country. It is so direct, so clear and so conclusive that it must carry general conviction and approval.—Philadelphia Press.

In the Miller case the president could do absolutely no less than he has done; he has executed the law, and all good citizens will applaud him for it.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The Hankering For Kings.

We used to say, wisely, during the good Victoria's reign, that Britain would become a republic when that excellent lady passed away and a man tried to be really king. The British, we all said, surely stood for royalty in the form of a gracious queen and loved her for her gentleness, but with a king pulling at the reins of power—well, that would bust up the royal flummery in old England. And lo! old fat Edward—he that was formerly that dull lethargic soul called Wales—why, bless us! the man is reported to be actually asserting himself as king! And—what's this—the British public likes it? It grins and rubs its hands and says that Edward, old chap, has turned out to be a brick, bless his heart! He's making the politicians mind, that's what he's doing, brave old chap! Really, the truth is that people like to be ruled. They want horses up to a certain point. In this country, the people deprived of kings, set up kings of their own—the political bosses—and, when they get tired of them, get others.—Denver Post.

IS FIGHTING AN UPHILL BATTLE

U. S. Steel Corporation Has to Meet Lack of Demand Caused by Excess of Labor.

COMPANY IS IN GOOD SHAPE

Despite Falling Off of Trade the Yearly Production Will Be Normal—Corporation to Wage a Vigorous War for Business in Foreign Countries.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 1.

"There is nothing the matter with the United States Steel Corporation. At least the finance committee meeting on Tuesday afforded no indications of anything wrong. The business for the balance of the year is practically booked so that the directors know today, to a considerable extent, what the earnings for the present fiscal year will be. We will turn out this year the normal amount of finished material." This is the statement given out today by P. A. B. Widener, a member of the finance committee of the Steel Corporation.

"There has been a falling off in the orders for rails and other railroad building material, due to the general retrenchments in railroad extensions. Many railroad companies will simply store material of this kind, already ordered, when delivered. Everyone knows that an immense amount of structural material has been manufactured by the United States Steel Corporation which cannot be delivered owing to the strikes of the structural workers. No change in the administration is likely to occur in the near future and I know of no plan for the establishment of another executive department with another vice president. The work formerly done by Mr. Schwab is now satisfactorily handled by Mr. Corey on the operative side and by Judge Gary on the financial side.

"It is true the United States Steel will make unusual efforts to obtain foreign business as a result of the slackening of domestic orders, and that a new company has been formed with that end in view. We shall do a very large export business in the next few months, though this will not show in our earnings until after the first of the year. The danger of the day is not any considerable falling off in the business doing by the corporation and other companies of national importance, but the continued attitude of labor unions in opposition to the interests of the American workmen.

"Parks and his associates in New York city by their action in tying up the large building operations, injuriously affected the income of thousands and thousands of iron and steel workers whose labor intervenes between the mining of the raw ore and the completion of the finished shapes. Each of these men did his part in the production of the completed building materials, and yet not one of them had a voice in the decision that the builders should not be allowed to erect the material and pay for it.

"There will be a great deal of suffering this winter among the working people, but it will not be because times are materially less good. The suffering will be among the rank and file of organized labor, and it will be chargeable only to the excesses of the leaders."

CONSERVATIVES CHEER CHAMBERLAIN'S POLICY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHEFFIELD, Oct. 1.—The annual conference of the Conservative associations opened here today with an unprecedented attendance, attracted by the unusually interesting political situation. Nearly 2,000 delegates were present. The delegates who were prepared to voice the opposition to preferential tariff acted together and appeared to be considerably in the minority. Mr. Lowe, M. P., chairman of the committee, deprecated the conference expressing a decided opinion on the tariff question in behalf of the party until Joseph Chamberlain had explained his views.

Cheers greeted Mr. Chamberlain's name and the interruptions of Mr. Lowe's remarks soon made it manifest that there were grave differences of opinion on the fiscal question. Though the majority seemed to favor the bold departure from the present system proposed by the retiring secretary for the colonies, excited interruptors declared the country would never be ripe for a food tax; but their voices were drowned by the chorus of those asserting that the country must be educated thereto.

A reference to the resignations of Chancellor of the Exchequer Ritchie and Indian Secretary Hamilton brought forth a cry of "Good riddance."

Addressing a mass meeting here tonight in connection with the conference, Premier Balfour delivered the speech which has been long heralded as the first heavy gun to be fired in the fiscal reform campaign which is absorbing the attention of the United Kingdom, her colonies and indeed, the whole world, and which has caused the present British cabinet crisis.

Mr. Balfour, in the course of his speech, did not even hint at the successors in the cabinet to Mr. Chamberlain, Lord George Hamilton and Mr. Ritchie. In fact, he did not mention the ministerial resignations, ignoring altogether that phase of the situation on which it was expected he would make some declaration. The premier confined himself strictly to the tariff question and his speech was to a large extent a repetition of the arguments contained in his secret pamphlet.

A WINDFALL
FOR MEN'S FEET.
Light-Weight Soles Cut a Dollar Off Shoe Prices.

Because almost any man calls for shoes with thick, heavy soles this time of the year, Campbell has cut a dollar off of the price of a lot of men's shoes in patent leather, enamel leather and velour calf and will let these $3 summer shoes (high top shoes—not oxfords) go for $1.98. Some men never wear heavy shoes. Some men always have luck coming their way.

DELAWARE SENATORS MUST CEASE FIGHTING

No Federal Patronage Will Be at Their Disposal Until They Agree.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The president today held a conference with Senators Allee and Ball of Delaware. He is weary of the factional fight in that state and wishes it stopped. If it is not, both senators will find themselves without federal patronage.

President Roosevelt made an effort to have the senators agree upon a successor to United States District Attorney William M. Byrne, who recently resigned, but was unsuccessful. Senator Allee, the Addicks leader, presented the name of Walter H. Hayes of Wilmington, and Senator Ball recommended the appointment of John P. Nellds of Wilmington, acting district attorney by appointment of the court. Neither would make any concession and no one was chosen. The president, it is understood, will give them another chance.

J. Edward Addicks was in Washington today and called at the postoffice department with Senator Allee. Mr. Addicks did not call at the White house. He evidently did not care to hear what the president might have to say about the situation in Delaware.

HANNA INVADES DEMOCRATIC SOIL

JOHNSON'S ATTACKS REFUTED

Senator Pits the Republican Party's Record and His Public Career Against the Socialistic Theories of the Cleveland Mayor.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

DEFIANCE, O., Oct. 1.—In a milder way as to words but no less effective as to results, Senator Hanna once more defended himself today against the attacks of Mayor Johnson and his political partner, John H. Clarke. He made it plain that neither of these gentlemen is clear in mind as to the questions he is discussing and showed by the mayor's own words that not only is he a free trader and single taxer, but that the tendency of his teachings is toward socialism, the forerunner of dangerous conditions and disastrous results.

In this defense of Republican principles and Mr. Hanna's public record the senator was assisted by Myron T. Herrick and Senator Harding. The trip of the day included three enthusiastic meetings, two of which, at Napoleon and Defiance, were in strong Democratic communities. There was a change in the political complexion when Paulding was reached tonight and a Republican county entered.

The first demonstration, at Napoleon this evening, was in the especial interest of Senator C. P. Godfrey, the Republican nominee for re-election, who, though running in a Democratic district, has strong hopes of success. The party leaders are much encouraged and believe that many Democratic votes have been garnered. In Napoleon a condition fortunate for the Republicans was found. The present state representative is Dr. T. H. Gehrett of Deshler, who has been the target for Johnson's ridicule because in the last session of the general assembly he voted for the curative act. Johnson prevented his renomination and left Gehrett's friends incensed and eager to retaliate. The chance presents itself in opposition to the Democratic ticket, both local and state, and this opposition is being felt.

It would be surprising to one who has not gone into this part of the state, which has always been looked upon as a Democratic stronghold, to discover the extent to which opposition to Johnson's rule is developed. Settled with hardy Germans of sound common sense, his radical utterances and arbitrary methods are looked upon as contrary to their interpretation of true Democracy and they refuse to indorse him.

Sir Thomas Lipton Says He Is Not After the American Ambassadorship.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Sir Thomas Lipton smiled when told today that Senator Kearns had mentioned the baronet as being an ideal successor to Sir Michael Herbert.

"Thanking the senator very much for his good wishes," said Sir Thomas, "I must say that I am not a statesman and there is no possibility in the world of my representing Great Britain at Washington. If I were an ambassador, however, I am sure I know of no country where I would rather be the king's representative."

PLANS ADOPTED FOR CAMPAIGN

PARTY RALLIES IN EVERY STATE

Heavy Battery of Orators to Be Under the Personal Direction of Officers of the League—Spirited Contest on for the Next League Convention.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Party rallies in every state under the personal direction of the officers and members of the executive committee of the Republican National league, reinforced by a heavy oratorical battery, is part of the plans for the campaign for the re-election of President Roosevelt. That was decided on at a conference of the representatives of the organization in session at the Auditorium Annex today.

The first act of the executive committee upon convening this morning was to send greetings to the nation's chief executive. The morning session was devoted to preliminary work. Committees were appointed and reports of officers heard. Addresses were also made by George Stone, adjutant general of California, and Isaac Miller Hamilton of this city, both former presidents of the league.

A spirited contest developed upon the arrival of the members of the committee in the city, over the location of the next convention of the organization. It is intended to hold it a short time after the national convention, and St. Louis, Indianapolis and Philadelphia are bidders for the meeting. The time and place to be named in the call to be authorized was referred to a committee of five.

In addition to the officers, President J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, Vice President James J. Sheridan of this city, Secretary Elbert W. Weeks of Iowa, and Sid. B. Redding of Arkansas, 35 members of the executive committee attended today's conference.

Indianapolis was selected for the holding of the coming national convention of the league. The date for the convention will be announced later. The officers and members of the executive committee were entertained tonight at the Hamilton club with an informal dinner.

TECH SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

President Frew Appoints Prominent Members of Board to Act.

William N. Frew, president of the board of trustees of the Carnegie institute, yesterday appointed the following committee on the Carnegie technical schools: W. H. Stevenson, John A. Brashear, James J. Booth, William McConway, W. L. Scaife and the president of the board of trustees of the institute.

The duty of the committee is to recommend to the board a person to act as president of the school, and to select an architect for the buildings and have prepared the plans and specifications for them. The committee will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Mr. Frew's office for the purpose of organization.

Mr. Frew stated yesterday the necessary work would be at once pushed to further the erection of the buildings for the school. He said the promptness shown in the selection of the committee was evidence there will be no delay.

MAYOR LOW MADE A SPEECH

New York's Executive Gave His Views Upon Civic Federations in Which He Spared Not the Political Plunderers. Many Mayors Were Present.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—A banquet to the visiting mayors and a concert by the Marine band, followed by a public gathering at the Auditorium theater tonight, at which Mayor Seth Low of New York was the principal speaker, brought the centennial celebration to a close, with the exception of the fireworks display, which will be given tomorrow night.

Previous to the banquet the mayors held a reception in the Auditorium hotel. The mayors present at the banquet were:

Seth Low, New York; Rollo Wells, St. Louis; Henry M. Doremus, Newark, N. J.; Paul Capdeville, New Orleans; Evan Howell, Atlanta, Ga.; James A. Reed, Kansas City, Mo.; Julius Fleischman, Cincinnati, O.; Charles A. Bookwalter, Indianapolis, Ind.; David A. Rose, Milwaukee, Wis.; John Weaver, Philadelphia; A. J. Rodenbeck, Rochester, N. Y.; R. H. Jeffrey, Columbus, O.; Robert A. Smith, St. Paul, Minn.; Erastus C. Knight, Buffalo, N. Y., and Carter H. Harrison, Chicago; Samuel Jones, Toledo, O., and a dozen others from nearby cities. Joseph Jefferson, the veteran actor, read an original poem to the banqueters. Sir Thomas Lipton was expected to be present at the banquet, but his doctor advised him against attending.

Mayor Low's talk was upon "Civic Federation" and was most broad and comprehensive in its scope. He began his theme by taking the American cities before the civil war, and while he admitted that public corruption was probably present to a greater degree than now, yet the question of slavery overshadowed all. With the advancement of the nation, he said, the tendency of population was toward cities; the growth of these led to plundering public contracts, as the result of political power. Gradually, therefore, the tendency everywhere was to concentrate administrative power into the hands of the mayor, and have this executive elected along lines of business efficiency.

The tenement, public school and other educational features bearing a relation to civic growth of a city were also touched upon at length.

BIG OIL AND GAS DEAL.

Three Companies Close With Pittsburghers on $2,000,000 Lease Transaction.

The American Window Glass Company, the American Oil & Gas Company and the National Oil Company have closed a deal with Pittsburgh investors for leases on about 40,000 acres of oil and gas lands. The territory covered extends through five counties in the Indiana oil field.

It is said that the consideration was $2,000,000. The new company announces that it proposes to spend $1,000,000 in developing the property and will drill 300 wells within the next year.

Ross Not Yet Found.

Isaac N. Ross, an employe in the office of surveyor of the port, who is charged with embezzling government funds, has not been arrested, although it is known he is somewhere in the city. From reliable authority it was learned that he was robbed in a saloon. The information on which the warrant was issued was made before United States Commissioner William T. Lindsay last Monday by M. M. Garland, surveyor of port, and charges Ross with embezzling $3,000. Ross has been for over 12 years in the office of the surveyor of port and was one of the most trusted employes.

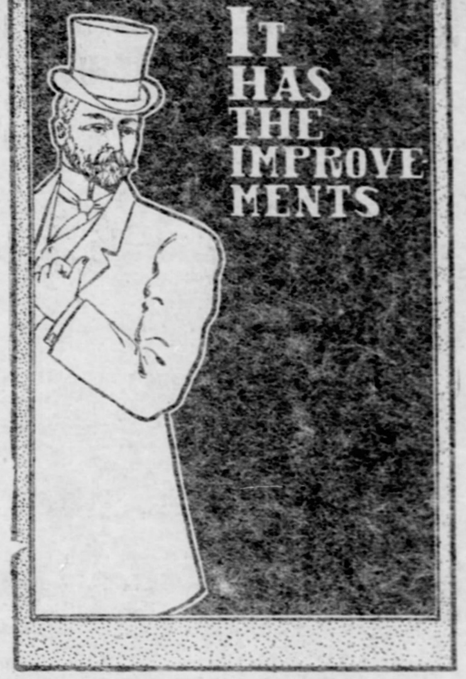
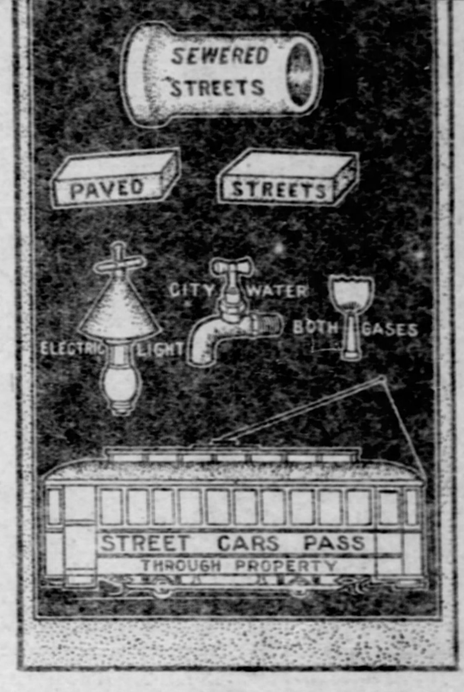
The grand closing out sale of the last and finest piece of West Park goes on the market at marvel terms for such wonderful property. For property that has every city improvement. Property that is building up solidly. Property that you will soon be unable to buy for "love or money," because there won't be any left for you to buy.

All you pay down, remember, is $2. Then $1 and $2 a week. Never any interest! No taxes!

WEST PARK





GOOD LOTS $50 TO $500

We desire to call the attention of our old customers and the public generally to an important truth: Every promise that was advertised or made by the promoters and owners of West Park has been kept to the very letter. Many improvements were made that were not even promised.

The upper or last section of West Park, which we have just opened for this sale, has been fairly littered with arc electric lights, to say nothing of the sewerage and other street improvements. Broadway, the main thoroughfare, has been paved, sewered, graded, provided with water and gas mains, wired with arc electric lamps and equipped with all the highway facilities in use on the finest thoroughfares of the largest cities in the United States. There is no avenue in Greater Pittsburgh that excels Broadway of West Park. The new car line on this street places the property within twenty-five minutes of Pittsburgh.

We have given Broadway special eulogy, but when we get down to a practical basis of equity we cannot forget that the entire proposition is a wonderful one. City improvements are installed everywhere. Miles of houses have been erected in less time than the most sanguine optimist could expect to see people locating on any new property.

B. & O. MEASURES ARE ON SCHEDULE

Corporations Committee of Select Council to Consider Them Once Again.

THE DELAY IS UNWARRANTED

Road Officials and City Agree on All Terms and Conditions—Pennsy and Wabash Ordinances May Come Up in Committee Today.

Select council's committee on corporations meets this afternoon, and while there are ordinances of three railroads in that body, the only ones likely to be considered are the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinances. These ordinances are the oldest in committee and as there is absolutely no disagreement between the city and the railroad over the terms it is expected they will be affirmatively recommended to select council.

The Baltimore & Ohio ordinances were in this committee before and were affirmatively recommended to select council. They were brought up at a meeting of that body and after 15 minute's talk on them were recommended and no reason was given. Since then the ordinances have laid in the corporation's committee of select.

The railroad officials have agreed to every term and condition imposed by the city in regard to the proposed erection of a new passenger and freight station and the changing of the railroad tracks in Hazelwood. They agreed to the city's terms of $10,000 annual rental for the ground for the new passenger station at Smithfield and Water streets. Since there is no dispute as to any of the conditions and as the proposed improvements would be a great benefit to the city, the corporations committee it is expected, will affirmatively recommend the ordinances back to the upper branch.

A motion to this effect will doubtless be made as soon as the ordinances come up, since there have been in this committee before, the terms and the proposed improvements are well known to the members of the committee. Robert Finney, general agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, with an architect explained all the features of the proposed improvements outlined in the ordinances at the former meeting of this committee. The affirmative recommendation to the upper branch in this case was unanimous.

The Pennsylvania railroad franchises, which have been freely discussed may come up for consideration if the Baltimore & Ohio ordinances are committee disposed of. There is a general impression that the Pennsylvania's ordinances will be held up by protracted hearings at various intervals until after the election. Definite action on these ordinances is not expected today.

The ordinance of the Wabash Railroad in which it is proposed to parallel the proposed Pennsylvania railroad elevated tracks in Liberty avenue, crossing them at Fourth street is in this committee at present, but the likelihood of it being called up this afternoon is very remote.

SEVERAL FIRMS SIGNED THE PLUMBERS' SCALE

Workmen Struck for 50 Cents a Day Increase in Wages. About 500 Men Out.

The first day's strike of the plumbers resulted favorably for the organization. Several firms signed the scale, which gives the men an advance of 50 cents a day. None of the members of the Master Plumbers' association signed, but the workmen are confident they will do so within the next few days.

There are 700 journeymen plumbers in the local and of that number 100 were kept at work, some of the master plumbers having signed the scale. The ones who signed the scale yesterday will give employment to about 100 more, leaving the number on strike 500. About 200 helpers are affected by the strike.

No conferences have been held between the Master Plumbers' association and workmen for over two weeks. The employers agreed to some conditions asked for, but refused to grant the increase in wages. The men yielded some points in the scale but would not return to work without the 50 cents a day raise. It was on the wage question that the conference adjourned without effecting a settlement.

The Master Plumbers' association desires the scale to expire the last of December, while the workmen's scale calls for expiration September 30. The men were willing to concede this point providing the 50 cents a day increase be given.

FAMOUS FOSSILS ARE TO BE PUT ON EXHIBITION

De Bayet Collection Now at Carnegie Museum and Is Being Unpacked.

Famous fossils from the de Bayet collection recently acquired by the Carnegie museum will be placed on exhibition at the institute during the season following the Founder's day exercises on November 5. The museum will be closed on October 12 to prepare for the new arrangement of the exhibit.

The crates containing the de Bayet collection arrived from New York about 10 days ago and are being unpacked. So great is the collection that but a few representative skeletons can be placed on exhibition in the present crowded quarters of the museum and some of the most interesting fossils will be packed away until the new building is opened.

The exhibit at the museum this year will surpass that of any previous season. Over three weeks will be devoted to the re-arrangement of the exhibition cases. Some of the more familiar wonders will be packed out of sight and the space will be filled with some of the new treasures. The attendance for the year exceeds 150,000.

MOTHER SAVED CHILD.

Ran Into Burning Building—Excitement at a Small Allegheny Fire.

A small blaze in the home of Andrew Eval, in Shady avenue, Allegheny, yesterday morning caused considerable excitement. A child's life was for a time in danger, and in saving it the mother almost lost her life. Hose carriage No. 4, while responding to the alarm broke down on the railroad crossing at Preble avenue, and Driver J. L. Poppenger was thrown to the ground and severely cut about the head.

The fire started in a defective flue and was not discovered until it had made some headway. Mrs. Eval in her excitement left the house without her infant, and forgot about it until the firemen arrived. Then she dashed into the burning building and brought the baby out. Her clothes were blazing and the firemen had to turn water on her to put out the fire. The property loss was about $200.

WILL ERECT HUGE STEAM TURBINES

The Westinghouse Company to Build Three Machines at East Pittsburgh Plant.

TO BE LARGEST IN THE WORLD

Will Be of Horizontal Double-Barrelled Type and Each Will Have Approximately 7,400 Electrical Horsepower. They Go to New York.

The Westinghouse Machine company will build at its East Pittsburgh plant three huge steam turbines which will be the largest machines of their description in the world. These turbines will constitute the initial equipment together with Westinghouse generators to be installed in the Long Island power station now under construction for the purpose of serving the traction in the tunnels for the Hudson and East rivers and the New York terminal at Thirty-second street and Seventh avenue of the Pennsylvania railroad, for the building of which systems, Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co., the engineering end of the Westinghouse interests, were recently allotted the complete contract.

The turbines will be of the Westinghouse horizontal double-barrelled type, mounted upon a single bed plate, resulting in a particularly compact arrangement and great economy of floor space. They will have a capacity of approximately 7,400 electrical horse-power each, and will drive 5,500 kilowatt three-phase, alternating-current generators operating in parallel. Their overload capacity will be more than 11,000 horse-power. Each turbine will be provided with a by-pass automatically controlled by the governor to accommodate the abnormal fluctuations in load. This will also permit of operation at full load non-condensing.

The turbine equipment will operate under conditions favorable to the attainment of high economy—viz.: 200 pounds steam pressure at the throttle, 28 inches vacuum and 175 degrees Farenheit superheat. The generators will be directly connected to the turbine shafts through flexible couplings. Each section of the units will have two bearings of ample proportion, thus avoiding shaft stresses. The three-phase winding will deliver current directly to the distribution of 11,000 volts, no step-up transformers being employed.

The machines will be separately excited and are to carry full load continuously at 100 to 80 per cent. power factor, with a rise in temperature of 35 degrees centigrade or 50 per cent. overload in two hours, with an increase in temperature rise of slightly over 50 per cent. Each turbo unit will be capable of delivering no less than 8,250 kilowatts for reasonable intervals and considerable in excess of this figure during momentary load fluctuations. The entire equipment will be delivered by July, 1904, and will represent an expenditure not far short of three-quarters of a million.

$173,694 IN CITY TAXES.

September Installment Will Have Delinquency of About $400,000.

Cash collections of the September installment of city taxes amounted to $173,694 54. Checks sent to the city treasurer have not yet been counted up but it is estimated they will reach $125,000. This will mean a delinquency of about $400,000 on the September installment and added to the amount that went delinquent on the March installment will make a total of about $1,000,000 to be collected by the delinquent tax collector.

Notwithstanding more individual taxes were paid this year which totaled a greater amount than previous years, the amount going delinquent was also greater than ever.

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY.

So Thinks at Least One Traveling Man.

I would as soon think of starting out without my mileage books and grip as to start out on a trip without a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in my valise, said a traveling man who represents a St. Louis hardware house. Why? Because I have to put up at all kinds of hotels and boarding houses. I have to eat good, bad and indifferent food at all hours of the day and night, and I don't believe any man's stomach will stand that sort of thing without protest; anyway, I know mine won't. It has to have something to break the fall, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the crutch I fall back on.

My friends often "josh" me about it, tell me I'm an easy mark for patent medicine fakirs, that advertised medicines are humbugs, etc., but I notice that they are nearly always complaining of their aches and pains and poor digestion, while I can stand most any old kind of fare and feel good and ready for my work when it needs me, and I believe I owe my good digestion and sound health to the daily, regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, year in and year out, and all the "josh-ing" in the world will never convince me to the contrary.

I used to have heartburn about three times a day and headache about three or four times a week, and after standing for this for four or five years I began to look around for my crutch and found it when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about 50 cents a month for them ever since, and when I stop to think that that is what I spend every day for cigars I feel like shaking hands with myself, for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first-class order for 50 cents a month. I don't care for any better life insurance.

My druggist tells me they are the most popular of all stomach medicines and that they have maintained their popularity and success because they do as advertised. They bring results, and results are what count in patent medicine as much as in selling barb wire.

RIGHT-OF-WAY SECURED FOR NEW TROLLEY LINES

Proposed Road to Make a Circuit of Mining Towns in Cambria County.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Oct. 1.—The Northern Cambria Street Railway Company last night concluded the work of securing the right-of-way for its road. It was done just in time, as, by the terms of the agreement as to franchises and other details, the project would have fallen last midnight had not the right-of-way for the entire route been secured.

It is said work will begin at an early date, and before this time next year cars will be running over the line, which is planned to start at Patton place and make a circuit of the principal mining towns, touching Hastings, Barnesboro, Spangler, Carrolltown and returning to Patton.

It is also proposed to construct a road to Ebensburg, to connect there with the projected line from Johnstown to the county seat.

ACCEPTED RESIGNATION BEFORE BURGESS RESIGNED

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—There is a strange mix-up in the municipal affairs in West Washington. At a meeting of the town council it was decided to accept the resignation of Burgess John T. Jack. It now develops that the burgess never resigned and has no intention of doing so. Members of council say that they heard he was about to resign and they decided to accept his resignation before it was handed in to them. Jack is out with a statement today in which he says he could not be hired to give up his office.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Judge Joseph Morland, one of the leading counsel of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in West Virginia, has just returned from the Hampshire County Country club, where he was in conference with attorneys and officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Company. He says that the line from Confluence, Pa., to Cameron, W. Va., will be built, and he was instructed to convert the equitable titles of his company in rights-of-way. The main line will cross the Monongahela river at Randall, four miles north of here, and will proceed to Cameron by way of Scott run and Pigeon creek. A branch will be run from Easton, this county, to Fairmont, and still another branch will run from Morgantown to Randall. Judge Morland said that Baltimore & Ohio would not further embarrass the Wabash except in places like Fairmont and Grafton, where the large vested interests of this company demanded a firm stand against encroachments of rival companies.

TOWN IS TERRORIZED AND POSTOFFICE ROBBED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OIL CITY, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—The town of Rousseville, three miles north of this city, was visited by burglars early this morning, who blew open the safe in the postoffice and store of A. N. Rose, securing about $500 in money and stamps. Citizens who gathered to investigate the noise of the explosion were driven back by the robbers, who fired their guns freely when discovered. Shot after shot rang out as the gang made hasty retreat to the woods.

When the terrorized inhabitants regained courage, they quickly organized an armed posse, which is now scouring the woods in all directions.

Mrs. Jennie Gillespie and Miss Gross, a school teacher, living opposite the postoffice, watched the men at work, but were too frightened to give an alarm. The burglars were interrupted by James Strait, who was returning home from a refinery. Two of the gang seized him, forced a gag in his mouth and tied him to a post. Four charges of nitro-glycerin were used to open the safe, and it was the noise of these explosions that awakened the citizens. Dr. W. O. Tyler was the first to investigate the cause. One of the robbers covered him with a revolver and ordered him to return to his home.

Deacon Phillippe Pitched the Pirates to Their First Victory

PIRATES CAPTURE THE FIRST GAME

Sixteen Thousand People Watch Deacon Phil Mow the Boston Batters Down.

SOME TERRIFIC BATTING DONE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, MASS., Oct. 1.—The Pittsburgh Pirates completely outclassed the Boston Americans at all points today, and won out in the opening championship game, 7 to 3. The Hubites were outbatted, outfielded and outpitched.

Phillippe pitched a masterly game, allowing the home team but six hits and struck out ten men. Cy Young, the veteran twirler of Boston, was batted freely and timely from the start. Home runs and three baggers were accumulated by the Pirates in a way that drew dire dismay into the Boston camp.

A dozen safe hits and seven runs tells the story. The visitors piled up four runs in the first inning after two were out, which broke the hearts of the American champions. Two errors were made by the Pirates and four by the Bostons.

Was a Regular Holiday.

The day was made a holiday. The usually placid Hub was stirred to its conservative foundation by the enthusiasm of its own big army of fans and the influx of thousands of visiting rooters, who were even more exuberant than the home peple. Every train coming into the big Union station was loaded with excited individuals who appeared to look upon the occasion as the one big event of their lives.

Boston is thoroughly an American League city, and all New England is imbued with the same idea. Consequently partisanship ran nigh and there was nothing in it for local fans but "Jimmy" Collins and his team of American league champions. Three straight is what the populace was confident the home team would secure from the Pirates, as National league baseball is here considered far below the standard as set up by the all-favored American league, and were freely made that such would be the result.

But at the Vendome hotel where the Pittsburgh team and a big delegation of Smoky City visitors are quartered, there was an air of confidence that fairly took the breath away from the partisan Bostonese and New Englanders. Every dollar that the latter flashed on their favorites was covered in two, three and more was looked for. The betting yesterday favored Boston 5 to 4, but so much avidity was manifested by the Pittsburghers to take those odds that even money was the best that the Hubites could secure today.

The corridors of the hotel were thronged all the morning and up to the time to start for the ball grounds. Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh club, estimated that at least $50,000 had been wagered before the game.

People Were Baseball Crazy.

The weather could not have been better if made to order; it was mild and clear and the sun shone warm and bright—a typical summer day that appealed to everyone to get out of doors for the mere pleasure of living.

Under these favorable conditions the rush for the ball park began early. The trolley lines were taxed to the utmost to carry the people and long before the gates were opened Huntington avenue was thronged for blocks. There was a wild stampede through the gates and into the stands. The open seats and bleachers were filled so quickly that an hour before the game was scheduled to begin the crowd had encroached on to the outfield and was filled 10 or a dozen deep on the terraces surrounding the entire field.

The grand stand filled more slowly and sedately, as every seat was reserved and sold days ago. A section of this stand had been reserved for the Pittsburg delegation's "rooters" and they came to the grounds in a body, decorated with badges of the club's colors. As they took their seats they cheered for their favorite batsmen so long and loud.

This was a signal for the friends of the Bostons and they answered the confident shouts of the visitors with defiant slogans that would have done credit to a football game on nearby Soldier's field. The noisy demonstrations were continuous and deafening. Distant Bunker Hill monument fairly shivered and looked down in amazement at the demonstration.

Deacon Phil Was the Master.

It was the masterly pitching of Phillippe that brought about the downfall of the Bostons. So completely were the American league champions under the spell of Phillippe that until the seventh inning only one Boston runner reached third base and then only on an error.

In the second inning the Pittsburgh pitcher struck out the side. His control was faultless and his method perfect. Barring two errors the Pittsburghs played ball that was cleancut and snappy, while the outfielding throughout was brilliant.

With a big and noisy crowd to excite them, both teams were nervous at the start and the visitors, going first to the bat, took advantage of an attack of stage fright on the part of Criger and Ferris. The crowd surrounded the field and life beyond the ropes went for three bases. Leach got the first of these hits, with two out in the first inning, and on hits by Wagner and Sebring, helped along by the errors of Criger and Ferris, Pittsburgh piled up four runs. They earned another run in the third on Beaufield's triple and Sebring's single. An error by Ferris gave the visitors another run in the fourth. Stahl quit on Sebring's hit in the seventh and the ball stopped short of the crowd. Sebring's coming home Young was hit hard all the way, but Phillippe never let up until the lead looked safe.

Players Who Deserve Credit.

In the seventh triples by Freeman and Parent brought in two runs and from Wagner's error another resulted in Boston's final inning. For Pittsburgh, Clarke, Beaumont, Ritchey and Leach excelled in the field, while the batting of Clarke, Leach and Sebring was terrific. Young passed Wagner, apparently with intention. For Boston, Collins, Parent and LaChance fielded cleverly. Score:

Tie Game at Homestead.

The H. L. A. C. and Rochester baseball teams played a tie game at Steel Works park yesterday afternoon, which ended 4 to 4 and was called on account of darkness at the end of the ninth inning. Pearson twirled for Homestead and had nine strikeouts to his credit, while Coleman for Rochester had five. Eight hits were secured off Coleman and seven off Pearson. The game was fast at every point. It was Homestead's game until the ninth inning, when the Rochester boys tied the score. Score:

WOMEN GOLFERS KEEP UP THEIR CLEVER WORK

Semi-Finals Will Be Fast Against West With the Easterners as the Favorites.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WHEATON, ILL., Oct. 1.—Today's games in the women's national golf tournament brought the play down to the semi-finals, which will be played tomorrow between two easterners and two westerners, Miss Fannie C. Osgood of Brookline and Miss Bessie Anthony of Glenview, Miss. Katherine Harley of Fall River, and Miss J. Anna Carpenter of Westward, Mo. All of these players won their games today by fairly comfortable margins, except Miss Carpenter, who had a hard struggle in defeating Miss Bishop. The medal scores indicate exceedingly close and interesting contests tomorrow. Miss Osgood's play was the steadiest today, her medal score of 48 on the outward journey being three strokes better than that of Miss Anthony, who meets her tomorrow. Miss Carpenter and Miss Harley each made a 50 going out.

Miss Osgood is a favorite over Miss Anthony, both on account of steady playing and from the fact that Miss Osgood has had comparatively easy matches so far, while Miss Anthony's have been rather trying. Easterners are also confident that Miss Marley, who has played consistently throughout the tournament, will succeed in defeating Miss Carpenter, and that she and Miss Osgood will struggle for the championship honors on Saturday. The course today was in fairly good condition, notwithstanding yesterday's hard rain, the wind drying the greens, which made fast gold possible.

Miss Osgood defeated Mrs. C. L. Dering, 3 up and 7 to play.

Miss Bessie Anthony defeated Miss Frances Everett, 4 up 2 to play.

Miss Katerine Marley, Fall River, beat Mrs. W. A. Alexander, Exmoor, 7 up 6 to play.

Walter J. Travis, national champion, was an interested spectator of part of today's play, and will witness the games for the remainder of the week.

PICKERING'S AT BOSTON.

The Up-to-Date Furniture House Showed Boston Fans What a Pittsburgh Firm Could Do to Honor the Three-Time Champions.

Boston baseball fans have this year been treated to something new in the way of rooting. They have heard and read much about the Pickering rooters at the opening game at Cincinnati, but never dreamed that they would come all the way from Pittsburgh to help the champions along.

Yet that is just what Pickering did yesterday. His "Nur Ced" man was very much in evidence. When the Pirates made a good play they were apprised of the fact that their credit was good at Pickering's. The dozen or more men under the guidance of Pickering's advertising man, were stationed in all corners of the ground and kept up a continual cross-out fire—about the largest in the states. Watch us grow and the familiar Nuf-ced.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Cerebral swelling here much reduced tonight, and I expect to entirely remove it by further treatment.

Attendance, 962. The score:

DAN PATCH MADE FAILURE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.—There was some great racing at Oakley park today. The four heats in the 2:20 pace were hotly contested from word to wire by Pan Michael and King Direct, and in the last three it took the decision of the judges to determine the winner. The race, however, went to Pan Michael and the talent backed, this pooling being 160 for the Michael horse against 60 for the field.

The Parson took the 2:20 trot in three heats. He was the choice in the betting. Guy Fortune upset all calculations on the 2:13 trot. He took it in two heats, while the money was on The Questor and Topsy and Kent. It took three hard heats to decide the 2:06 pace, which was won by the favorite, Fannie Dillard, after she had dropped the first heat by a neck to Terrace Queen.

Dan Patch was driven by Myron McHenry against his pacing record of 1.55, but he failed to beat it. He went to the quarter in :30¼, to the half in :59¾, the three-quarter in 1:30¼, and completed the mile in 2:01¾. Under the adverse track conditions the performance was a splendid one. Summaries:

HAS QUIT BASEBALL.

Eddie Cremer Drops the Game and Will Take a Wife.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—When Eddie Cremer, catcher for the Manor team, doffed his mask after the game with the Electrics at Wilkinsburg last Saturday, he said boodby to baseball, according to his own statement. The reason for it developed today when the announcement was made of Mr. Cremer's marriage to Miss Zita Marie Alwine, one of Greensburg's most charming and popular young ladies. The wedding will take place on the evening of October 14.

Eddie Cremer is one of the most popular ball players in Western Pennsylvania and is considered one of the best. If not the best catcher in the amateur ranks, besides being a heady player and a good field general. He was prominently connected with athletics while attending Franklin and Marshall college, and while he was one of the faculty at Mercersburg academy. In 1897 he was engaged as catcher for the great Greensburg team of that season, and was reengaged for the following season, and his field management had much to do with the success of the team. After the disbandment of the team Mr. Cremer took a position on the Greensburg Press and ere long been editor of that paper for several years. For the past three years he has been catcher for the Manor team and captain as well, and his efforts got the team in the front rank among the clubs of Western Pennsylvania.

HARD PRACTICE WORK.

Wash-Jeff Coaches Give the Regulars Plenty to Do.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—The W. & J. football men had another hard practice today in preparation for the game with Marietta on Saturday. The work was of the most grueling kind, and after nearly every down quite one or more players were laid out with bumps and bruises. The coaches, assisted by old players, compelled the varsity to play the hardest kind of a game and placed an unusually strong scrub team against them. Volunteers for the scrub team have been called from among the students and the largest number of players in uniform that has been seen on the field this year.

The varsity team was constantly changed and when the two hours' practice was over the men were completely exhausted. That the coaches are determined to get a good team in shape for the first scheduled game is certain. All the weak points that were developed in last Saturday's battle with California's Terrible Team are being strengthened, and it is now believed that barring accident, W. and J. will present a creditable line up against Marietta. There is still a dearth of heavy material to contend with, but every effort is being made to develop a fast, aggressive bunch of players.

Easy For Bridgeville.

The game at West Newton between Bridgeville and West Newton was a walkover for Bridgeville. It seemed that West Newton took stage fright and fell all over themselves. Frank Mayer's catch of Campbell's long drive in deep center will long be remembered at West Newton. Score:

West Newton	0 1 0 1 0 1 1 0—4	10	7

Earl Lowry in Charge.

At the Johnstown races, which open on Thursday, Earl Lowry, the well-known pool seller, will have charge of the auction pools, and Paddy Nee of this city will have charge of the book. This will insure good work in that part of the race game.

WANTS HANDICAP MATCH.

Jimmy Britt Was In This City Yesterday.

Jimmy Britt, the clever California fistic, who is acknowledged to be the white lightweight champion, was in the city for a short time yesterday. Britt and his manager, Harry Corbett, are on their way east to Meet Al Herford, manager of Joe Gans, the lightweight champion of the world, with a view of making a match.

The Californian does not want to meet Gans in a regular fight, but is after a handicap match. Britt is willing to meet Gans in a twenty round bout and stipulates that if Gans defeats him within that limit he must have all the money, but if Britt stays the twenty rounds all the cash is to go to him. Corbett and Britt continued their journey last night, and will meet Herford in New York today.

HE TALKS BOLDLY.

Tim Callahan Says Things He May Be Sorry For.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Tim Callahan, the Philadelphia featherweight, who has been after the scalp of Young Corbett for some time, and who agreed to take on the champion for six or ten rounds before the club offering the best inducement, says now that Corbett is a "four-flusher." Two Philadelphia managers made offers for a six round bout, but for some unknown reason Corbett never stepped the chance. He said twenty rounds was what he wanted to fight. Now Callahan says he will fight under any terms Corbett chooses to make, and puts it up to Corbett to make good.

MRS. C. L. MAGEE TAKES EARNINGS

$3,008,066 FOR A HOSPITAL

In This is Included $138,578 Received from Sale to City—Interesting Figures in Executors' Account—James G. Blaine, Jr.'s Debt.

The account of the Fidelity Title & Trust company, as trustee in the C. L. Magee estate for the sale of the real estate in the Twenty-second ward to the city for technical school purposes, was filed and will be audited in Orphans court today. The account shows that the estate received $175,000 from the proceeds of this sale, and that the expenses of conducting it, including the payment of a mortgage, amounted to $36,421 98, leaving a balance for the memorial hospital purposes of $138,578.

The account of the executors, which has been filed and is now closed by this transaction, shows that Mrs. C. L. Magee, instead of taking one-third of the entire estate, as she could have done by permission of Orphans court under her life interest, this being the amount which is usually figured upon in lieu of earnings, interests, rents, etc., has evidently elected to take the earnings and dividends from stocks, bonds and other securities and has already been paid over $50,000.

The personal assets of this estate show a total of $5,825,027 87, while the executors claim credit for disbursements that leave the personal property to be devoted to the purposes of the Elizabeth Steel Magee memorial hospital at the death of the life tenant, but $3,008,066 97. Of this $1,241,213 81 is cash, and $1,766,853 16 includes stocks, bonds and other securities on hand and not converted into cash. In the account it is shown that Mr. Magee had 500 shares of the American Railway Typewriter Company, which is so quoted as worthless at the present time. Attorney George G. Wilson has drawn $26,000 from the estate as attorney for the executors and for services rendered to Senator Magee for six years previous to his death. The account also shows that James G. Blaine, Jr., paid a loan and interest to the executors of $55.

The amount to be devoted to the hospital here given, does not include "The Maples" and other real estate left by Mr. Magee.

WOMEN ON THE BOARD PUT IN RESIGNATIONS

Trouble With Reformed Presbyterian Synod Over Home for Aged Building.

Because, it is said, the Reformed Presbyterian synod failed in its agreement to transfer a title to the building occupied as a home for the aged, most of the women on the board of the Aged Peoples' Home in Lafayette avenue, Allegheny, have resigned. The friction is said to be the result of the action of the synod which agreed some time ago to transfer the property to the Presbyterian Women's association. The minority on the board, who declined to resign, have elected officers to fill the vacancies and will abide by the synod. The association will satisfy the mortgage of $3,500 on the property.

Those who resigned are: Mrs. James R. McKee, second vice-president; Mrs. D. McAllister, third vice-president; Mary N. Henning, fifth vice-president; Mrs. T. H. Boyd, Mrs. R. J. Hazlett, Mrs. John Aiken, Mrs. M. L. Barr, Sadie E. Caskey, Mrs. R. A. Steele, Mrs. Musser, Mrs. J. G. Campbell, Mrs. W. T. Wilson, Mrs. Samuel Holmes, Mrs. George Simpson, Mrs. C. S. Scroull and Mrs. J. W. Blackwood.

The election of new officers resulted as follows: Mrs. A. J. McFarland, Mrs. D. C. Martin, Mrs. William Essler, vice-presidents; Mrs. William Ward, secretary; Miss Agnes R. Orr, treasurer, and the following managers: Miss Lizzie Boggs, Mrs. J. S. Arthur, Mrs. J. M. Coleman, Mrs. F. Coverdale, Mrs. H. C. Foster, Miss Minnie Renfrew, Mrs. Thomas Allen, Mrs. S. E. Culbertson, Mrs. Emma Slater, Mrs. Minnie Barron and Mrs. Eleanor Meikle. A reception will be held at the home Thursday, October 8, from 2 until 10 o'clock.

NEW TRANSFER SYSTEM.

Forms Issued on Allegheny Street Cars Carry Restrictions With Them.

The Pittsburgh Railways company yesterday inaugurated a new system of transfers in Allegheny which they think will add to their receipts and put a stop to the illegal use of the transfers on the part of their patrons. The new transfers may be used not later than 10 minutes after the time they are issued, and the car left and the one to be taken is indicated on the printed form.

The new transfers are divided into two classes, white and blue. The former may be used until 10 minutes after noon and the latter from that time until 11:30 p. m. The day they are issued is also printed on the form, as are the cars transfers may be issued on. Each conductor is expected to use his punch to indicate the car the transfer is given on and the one it may be used on.

Under the old system of transfers the patron merely asked for one going north, east, west or south, as the case might be. These transfers could be used at almost any time, whereas the transfer is supposed to be used at once. In some instances under the old system a passenger could secure a transfer on a car and use it for the return trip on the same car.

GRAND CLOSING-OUT SALE

OF THE LAST AND FINEST PIECE OF

WEST PARK

IT TAKES ONLY $2

Remember that this wonderful city-improved property is being put on the market at the marvel terms of $2 down and $1 and $2 a week.

No taxes charged! Never any interest to pay! No "slip-ups" of any kind. Just plain, unadulterated $2 down and $1 and $2 a week for the last piece of real estate which has broken all records for building up fast. Adjacent neighborhoods of McKees Rocks are leaving their old landmarks to move to it.

Sale will be conducted from Saturday, October 3d, to Saturday, October 10th, if lots last that long. Don't forget what this proposition holds out to you. The opportunity can never be repeated, as there will be no more West Park. Vacant space stops. The property will soon be built up solidly.

TAKE McKEES ROCKS CARS MARKED WEST PARK AT LIBERTY AVENUE AND FIFTH STREET.

You cannot get an idea as to how great an investment West Park property is until you go to McKees Rocks and witness the expansion of her iron and railroad industries. Nor until you see the substantial new industries which have been added to her various enterprises.

The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad company is alone spending an additional million dollars. It is now building two more roundhouses capable of holding fifty engines each, a machine shop where the road will build its own cars and do all the repair work on its engines, and a coach works where all the cars out of order will be repaired. When the new shops are completed the rolling stock will be materially increased, and the force of 3,500 men now employed and necessitating a monthly payroll of half a million dollars will be increased to 5,000 men, and another quarter of a million dollars added to the payroll.

WEST PARK IS WITHIN THE CALLING LIMITS.

Even now the demand for houses in West Park is something unmatched in the history of real estate. Of the five hundred residences which have been built there in the very short time the property has been on the market, not more than ten are rented houses. It shows that the men who will be employed in the new positions at the big railroad industries now in course of construction will have to make arrangements at a very early date if they expect to secure comfortable abodes near their employment.

SOCIETY.

SLOWLY the houses in the fashionable section of Allegheny bounded by Ridge, Western, Irwin and Allegheny avenues are taking on an appearance of life after a long summer when barred windows and doors told their story of families away from home.

Mrs. Park Painter came home from Watch Hill two weeks ago, her youngest daughter, Miss Gladys Painter, following her a few days later. Mr. Painter and Miss Eleanor Painter have been at Old Point Comfort and will remain there some time longer. Mrs. Sloan is staying with her mother until the rest of the family return.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmar D. Denny returned early in September from Deer Park, but soon went east to place their sons, Harmar D. Denny, Jr., and Archibald Denny, in school. They are expected home the first of next week. They have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darlington at Mamaroneck, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Woods at their place near Philadelphia. The Darlingtons will be home in a week or two and their house in Irwin and Allegheny avenues is being placed in readiness for their arrival.

Mr. James A. Chambers and his daughters are enjoying the autumn in Sewickley Heights, but will open their home in Ridge avenue, Allegheny, in a couple of weeks. Mrs. William N. Murray returned yesterday morning from a visit of a few days in Cleveland, and after stopping a few hours in Allegheny, went down to Sewickley to join her father and sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Horne and Mrs. William W. Wilock are spending the week in New York. Mrs. John Moorhead is also in New York this week, having gone east to see her two young daughters, Miss Anne and Miss Margaret Moorhead, established in their school. Mrs. Henry Holdship and Miss Alice Holdship are stopping in the metropolis for a few days on their way home from the Canadian resorts, where they spent the summer.

Cards in Crafton.

A large number of out-of-town guests were present at the card party which Mrs. Robert M. Uip gave at her home in Crafton yesterday afternoon. Guests were present from New Castle, Beaver Falls, McDonald, Sharpsburg, the East End and Allegheny. Among those from the two cities were Mrs. N. C. Brace, Mrs. S. W. Cunningham, Mrs. Joseph Matthews, Mrs. Charles Decker, Mrs. S. F. Dame, Mrs. D. W. Crawford, Miss Belle and Miss Sally Law. Mrs. David Black and Mrs. Thomas Boyd.

Six hand euchre was played at 9 tables, while at another table a guessing contest was carried on. The prizes went to Mrs. S. W. Cunningham and Miss Elizabeth Houston for the euchre, the others being awarded to Mrs. W. D. Clarke and Mrs. Samuel McCreery. The score cards were dainty affairs embossed with the initials of the hostess. Pink and white prevailed in the decorations which were carried out in roses and dahlias placed on the tables and mantels, while the chandeliers were decked in asparagus. Mrs. William Boyd, a daughter of the hostess, assisted her mother in receiving her guests, the other aids being Mrs. Edward Lang and Miss Alice Henry. All wore modish autumn costumes.

Celebrated Their Golden Wedding.

Married October 1, 1853, Mr. and Mrs. John Wittman yesterday celebrated their golden wedding at their home on Wittmans hill. A wedding service similar to the one 50 years ago was performed in St. Martin's Roman Catholic church by the Rev. Father Louis Woeltul, rector, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. After the service an all-day celebration was held at the farm home of the Wittmans, at which the five children and nine grandchildren were in attendance. Beside these the guests included other relatives, 50 invitations having been issued. Mr. Wittman is 79 years of age and his wife four years his junior. Both are among the oldest residents of the West End, having lived there since their marriage in St. Philomena's Roman Catholic church. Mrs. Wittman coming to this country but a short time before her marriage, while her husband preceded her by two years. Of their 10 children but four are living. They are Phillip C., of Nixon street, Allegheny; Edward, John and Wilhelmina Wittman, all of whom live near their parents. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wittman are members of St. Martin's church, where the morning celebration was held, Mr. Wittman being one of its charter members.

Wood, was married to Henry Rees Fisher. The church was crowded with a fashionable audience and the decorations were of an autumnal character and magnificent in their profusion and arrangement. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Arthur R. Taylor. The bride wore a white satin gown and carried a shower bouquet of roses. The maid of honor was Miss Mary White of Warren and the bridesmaids Miss Elizabeth Fisher, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Alice Larkin and Miss Elizabeth Chapman of Elmira, N. The board of managers of the Public Wash House and Baths association met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. C. Clapp in Amberson avenue. The meetings of the board are usually held in the Twentieth Century club, but owing to the fall cleaning in progress there, it was decided to meet at Mrs. Clapp's home. The committees for the annual meeting were formed, but remain to be acted upon. Minor business affairs were discussed. The building being erected by the association is nearing completion and the managers expect to hold the formal opening early in the new year. Work was begun last April.

WELSH SINGERS ON EXPO STAGE

Big Crowd Heard Pittsburgh Choral Society in Program of Classic Airs.

WILL GO TO WORLD'S FAIR

Plan to Make Local Organization Permanent—Sousa Will Rest Until Next April, After the Close of His Present Engagement.

Welsh singers and their admirers turned out by the thousand at the exposition last night to greet the Pittsburgh Choral society which carried off the $1,000 prize at the National Eisteddfod last spring. The singers were received with enthusiasm which equaled that given them in the same hall when it was announced that the organization had captured the coveted trophy of the Eisteddfod. Prof. T. J. Davies directed the chorus last night and selected "The Lullaby of Life," by Leslie, and "Ye Nations Offer to the Lord," by Mendelssohn.

Prof. J. T. Davies.

It is probable that the society will become a permanent organization and Prof. Davies will take the chorus to the St. Louis World's fair next fall to enter a national competition. Although the chorus had not held rehearsals for several months, it sang last night with the sprightliness and accurate time of an organization that had been in constant training.

Welsh night marked the largest attendance at the exposition since the coming of Sousa. For tonight a program has been arranged, entitled "popular hits of the great masters," and it promises to draw one of the largest crowds of the season. Tomorrow night will be given over to the commercial travelers, with a popular program by the March King and his band. Upon closing at Pittsburgh Mr. Sousa will play one concert in New York and rest until next April. The concerts for this afternoon follow:

Saxophone solo, "American Favorites" ..... Moermans

STREET CAR BRAKES FAILED TO OPERATE

Car No. 1703 of the Madison avenue and East street line, collided with a wagon belonging to Hasley Bros., about 6 p. m. yesterday, at North and Madison avenues, Allegheny. Miss Annie Herbert, aged 22, Raymond street, and Harry Wickliffe, aged 22, of No. 6 Rickard street, Allegheny, were slightly injured. The latter is a driver for Hasley Bros. The brakes on the car failed to work as the corner was reached, and the wagon was demolished. Both horses were so badly injured they will likely have to be shot.

PERSONALS

Francis Murphy, the veteran temperance apostle, now a resident of Los Angeles, was in Pittsburgh for a few hours yesterday, en route back to the west from the east, where he has been visiting his children. When asked if he expected to be in Pittsburgh this year to once more celebrate an anniversary of the starting of the Murphy movement, the great temperance crusade which began in this city many years ago with the motto, "With malice toward none and charity for all," Mr. Murphy replied that he did not, for the reason that the people of Pittsburgh did not seem to want him here. Of late years his experience has been that, preliminary to holding an anniversary celebration here, he has had to beg for the money wherewith to pay the necessary expenses. In Los Angeles the business men lay down the money without solicitation and say to Mr. Murphy, "We want you here—don't you go away." The old white-haired man still has the sparkling eye, the erect form and the hearty "God bless you" of years ago. He is very much in love with Los Angeles, and the place evidently agrees with him.

Col. C. C. Philbrick of Columbus, O., spent yesterday in Pittsburgh on business. He was formerly director of public safety at Columbus, and is manager of a Columbus paper. Col. Philbrick is a Bryan-Johnson Democrat, and in discussing the coming election he said: "Being state committeeman of Ohio on the Democratic side of the fence, I make two predictions. One is that Tom L. Johnson will not be elected governor, and the second is that Johnson will gain control of the legislature. This will place him in a position to enter the next fight for the presidency of the United States."

Michael J. Scriber, a marine on the battleship Massachusetts for the last three years, arrived in Braddock yesterday on a short visit to his mother and sister, of Braddock avenue. Old Glory Scriber left Braddock during the Spanish-American war, and previous to this had gained a reputation throughout the valley as an all-around athlete. He became the champion light-weight boxer of the ship, and is known as the best swimmer in the North Atlantic squadron. He leaves for New York next Monday, and will shortly be given shore service at Washington, D. C.

H. P. Hope with his boys' brigade left last night over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad 125 strong for Baltimore, where the national convention of the boys' brigades will take place. The brigade, headed by the Third Brigade band, marched to the Baltimore & Ohio station, where they boarded four Pullman sleepers.

Robert D. Layton, immigrant inspector, left last night for Cincinnati on business.

SHERADEN TEST CASE APPEALED

Supreme Court Will Pass on Question of Remote Cause This Month.

MILLIONS DEPEND ON ISSUE

All Other Cases Postponed to Await Outcome of the E. A. Gudfelter Suit, in Which $11,400 Was Awarded—Ohio Suits on Trial.

The Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad has taken an appeal to the supreme court in the suit of E. A. Gudfelter, who was awarded a $11,400 verdict in the test case resulting from the Sheraden disaster, in which an explosion of naptha resulted in a heavy loss of life and much damage to property in and about Sheraden and Corks run. Upon the outcome of this case 100 or more other cases depend, involving damages aggregating nearly $1,000,000. Attorneys J. L. Ritchey and D. S. McCann represent the plaintiff and Dalzell, Scott & Gordon the defendant.

This case was brought to test the contention of the railroad company that the Corks run end of the disaster was the result of a remote cause for which the company was not to blame and should not be charged with. The company lost every issue raised, and on the motion for a new trial and the question of law reserved Judge McClung handed down an opinion in which he affirmed the judgment of the jury and refused a new trial, taking up every detail of the case thoroughly.

The railroad company appeals on the ground that the lower court erred in its conclusions of law. Its specifications have not been filed, but will be on record before the supreme court meets next Monday. The case will be about the last on the list during this sitting of the court and an opinion is expected about the first Monday of January next.

Attorneys representing other plaintiffs that have sued for damages alleged to have resulted from this explosion have consented to a postponement of all the cases until after the decision by the supreme court, in order to facilitate the litigation. The result of the Gudfelter decision, however, will only effect the Corks run cases. Those that have been brought for injuries received at the scene of the first explosion do not depend on the questions raised in this case and the suits will probably be tried independent of the final action.

A number of suits have been brought in Ohio by relatives of persons injured and killed, so that the Ohio courts will pass on all questions raised as well as the courts of Pennsylvania.

JOHN MITCHELL TO BE HERE

HARVARD FINDS NEW STAR.

Phil Mills Surprises Everybody by His Remarkable Work as Fullback.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Harvard has made another great find. The find is no other than Phil Mills, who played left end on the 'varsity football eleven last fall. Harvard's coaches have suddenly "discovered" that Mills has the making, not of an end, but of a phenomenal fullback in him and today they proceeded to give the benefit of the question to the undergraduate world.

The result was startling. Having only played the position of fullback for three days and that only in signal practice, Mills created a sensation. On the first kick-off he caught the pigskin, threw off half a dozen players and advanced the ball on a mad dash for 30 yards. On the next play he smashed through the line for 15 yards, bundling high into the air in a way that reminded the spectators of Tommy Graydon, and a few minutes later crashed through 10 yards more, all this in spite of the fact that three coaches, Barnard, Green and Dick Lawrence, were playing respectively right guard, center and right tackle on the scrub. Weighing 172 pounds Mills is yet as quick as lightning and if he keeps on at the pace set today promises to develop into one of the greatest fullbacks Harvard has ever had.

With Mills, Nichols, Schoellkopf and Marshall behind the line Harvard certainly will have a phenomenally fast back field and one which the Elis will have just reason to fear.

The entire geography of McKees Rocks has been so changed by the success of West Park that old residenters view the transformation with astonishment. The borough seems to be lifting the mainspring of its operations to this wonderful long stretch of level land. It is no exaggeration to state that the town has moved up five squares toward West Park since West Park was opened. Even the postoffice and many of the leading public marts have been drawn in this westward direction since the remarkable property was put on the market. The heaviest real estate buying in McKees Rocks is now being done in the section that adjoins West Park. Three-fourths of the frontage on the south line of Chartiers avenue above the P. C. & Y. R. R. crossing up to the entrance of West Park has changed hands within the last twelve months at unlooked-for increases in value. Within a year and a half lots 24x100 in this locality have jumped up in price from $1,500 to $5,000. These were the Peter Yunker holdings.

HARTLEY'S PLEA IS INSANITY

A DOCTOR AIDS DEFENDANT

Witnesses Tell Story of the Shooting in a South Side Barber Shop—Suits to Test Legality of Speculation on Margin—Doings in the Courts.

William M. Hartley is on trial charged with the murder of Ernest O. Johnston in Henry Jouver's barber shop, No. 2832 Carson street, South Side, on March 28 last, when, it is alleged, he shot Johnston five times while the barber shop was crowded.

Witnesses testified that Hartley made remarks reflecting on all the women who married railroaders, to which Johnston took exception, ending in a fight in which Hartley was knocked down. John Murphy, bartender at the Hotel Cunningham, testified that he had put Hartley out of the saloon after he had pulled a knife and threatened to kill Johnston and himself. This was on January 13. Other witnesses corroborated this testimony.

Mrs. Catharine Johnston, widow of the murdered man, did not know Hartley, but told the story of her husband's death in the barber shop. She cried during her testimony. They were married three years and have two children.

Joseph Cavanaugh told the story of the killing. The barber shop was filled. Hartley passed by. Johnston was leaning over a chair reading. Hartley, he said, shot twice. Johnston turned about, threw his arms about witness' neck, turning his back, into which three more shots were fired.

Policeman's Damaging Testimony.

Officer Thomas A. Fitzgerald, who arrested Hartley, testified the defendant told him: "I saw my chance to give it to him and I did it." Later he told the officer: "I don't know, Jeerie, but I put five shots into him." He said Hartley was cool and not intoxicated.

Attorney H. L. Christy opened the defense by stating that 10 years before the shooting the defendant had received an injury to his brain, from which he never recovered. His skull was fractured at the base and a piece of broken bone still remains in his head.

Dr. B. O. F. Harbaugh of Oldtown, Md., had treated Hartley for eight years for violent and shooting pains in the head. He said that when suffering from these attacks he was ugly to his best friends. He had frequently refused to recognize the doctor, although at other times he was perfectly rational. He said the witness said, that his own brother had ordered him off his farm. On one occasion he had been known to go after a man with a gun and had frequent quarrels. The boy people being in fear of him. When rational he was kind and dutiful to his mother and had been known to give her almost the entire amount of his month's pay.

Two suits were entered which will test the legality of speculation in stocks and bonds on "margin." Suits were entered by George H. Deneen and Paul H. Neffen against Richmond & Co., local brokers, and the Diamond National bank of this city.

Deneen seeks to recover $4,847 50 and the other plaintiff $905. The bank becomes a party to the suit owing to it being the depository for the firm and having the amounts involved in the suits on deposit, according to the averments of the plaintiff.

The bills allege the defendant firm established a "bucket shop" in Cumberland, Md., as an adjunct to their Pittsburgh business, in September, 1902, which was closed on June 10, 1903, as the plaintiffs aver, without closing up its transactions with them.

They aver they were customers of the Cumberland branch and refer to the business "as gambling and speculation," and say that the money they are for was deposited with the Cumberland agent as bets or wagers, in the form of margins, on the fluctuations of the New York market price on certain stocks and bonds, without any intention of either party to deal in the actual securities. The plaintiffs contend the transactions were all gambling and without legal standing.

Trust Carry Out the Contract.

Judge Robert S. Fraser in the case of William M. Holmes, for use of the Crown Wall Plaster Company, against Eli K. Bowler to compel the specific performance of a contract to convey a piece of real estate in Braddock, holds that a switch reservation not having been set forth, the contract must be carried out as written.

Judge Fraser authorizes the sale of the property of the Duquesne Ice Company by the Fidelity Title and Trust Company as receiver. John D. Bigert was first appointed receiver of the company and subsequently the trust company. The plant cost about $8,000 during the past year, while operated by the receivers, and the trust company asked for a sale. Mr. Bigert opposed this on account of litigation pending with two creditors and of the present condition of the money market. The court says there is no prospect of better results from future operations, or assurance of better financial conditions.

Judge Frazer dismissed the exceptions filed in the case of S. W. Hill against W. H. Denniston and others.

TRUE BILLS FOR MURDER.

Indictments Returned Against Guisseppi De Renzo and Oscar Willishouse.

Two true bills charging murder were returned by the grand jury yesterday. Guisseppi De Renzo was indicted for murder for the death of Lorenzo Pueto, who died at the Homeopathic Hospital June 16, from peritonitis, caused, it is said, by stab wounds inflicted by De Renzo on Webster on June 9. Oscar Willishouse was indicted in connection with the death of Henry Souerwald, who died June 20, from a fractured skull. It is alleged that Willishouse struck him on the head with a chair and a piece of iron.

Other true bills returned were: Robbery, George Baltimore; misdemeanor, Frank Boyer, Joseph Jeffreys, N. J. Penrose and W. C. Whittle; selling liquor illegally, John J. Fahey, Francisco Bude et al. (2), and Sophia Ellis; pointing firearms, Annie Butalis, James Fitzsimmons and Mike Dominic; felonious assault and battery, George Baltimore and Jesse Hudson; assault and battery, John Bumbry, George Cupteresky, John Danes et al., Ambros Grabb, Mike Menko, Charles Zielski and Harry Wolff; fraudulently making written instrument, M. M. Bunting; aggravated assault and battery, Fred Domin and C. C. Emsel; felonious entry, C. C. Emhel; larceny, James Logan, Lonan Speciman, Clarence Hurley (3), Anthony Rosenski; larceny by bailee, J. H. Henderson.

The bills against "Ed" Hertz, A. W. McMillen, W. M. Wright, returned for gambling, and that against Eli Wilkeson for selling liquor illegally, were ignored.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The Etzler non-support case, which was scheduled for a hearing today, has been postponed until tomorrow.

In criminal court before Judge J. M. Kennedy, John Schamack was convicted of embezzling $135 48 from the St. Benedict society, Pittsburgh 150.

Frank R. Whitehouse took out letters of administration on the estate of Sarah R. Whitehouse. Attorneys O'Brien and Ashley represent the administrator.

H. J. Bath has sued Rose Dushback for $10,000 damages for alleged slander. The statement avers she said before others, "You should be in the penitentiary."

The master in the divorce proceedings of Dora G. Hazard against John J. Hazard has recommended a decree. Cruel and barbarous treatment and desertion was alleged.

Laura Wheeler has entered suit against Martha Hunt for $2,500 damages for alleged slander, and a capias has been issued for the defendant's arrest. The plaintiff says she was termed a thief by the defendant.

Verdicts were rendered for the plaintiffs in suits against the city of Pittsburgh for damages done property in the grading of Ellsworth street, as follows: Dorothy Bedler, $1,485; Charlott Dietzel, $500; Ursula Koher, $100; Pauline Schertler, $750, and Lawrence Probyoz, $125.

Judge James R. Macfarlane, in the suit of John A. Murray and Catherine M. Murray, gave judgment for $11,666.66 to Catherine M. Murray. Her father, Dr. A. B. Murray, deceased, devised that she was to receive the one-seventh share of his estate, and the court interpreted this to vest title in fee simple to the daughter.

In the equity suit of Mary Jane Herd against William T. McKnight, Sarah E. McKnight, wife of the defendant, and daughter of the plaintiff, has filed an answer in which she says her husband has not interfered with the relations between her and her mother, and that the trust which the mother seeks to have annulled is for the benefit and protection of the mother.

The first and partial account of J. M. Kennedy and James R. Sterrett, executors under the will of Eliza A. Darlington, deceased, has been filed. The executors charge themselves with $104,445 26, and ask credit for disbursements and credits amounting to $16,167 75 for legacies paid to charitable institutions. A schedule attached of property not yet disposed of consists of insurance stocks and securities aggregating $145,000.

M'KEESPORT TEACHERS MAY START A STRIKE

Instructors in High School Are Backed by Ministers in Their Demand for Less Work.

Encouraged by the ministerial association of the city, the teachers of the McKeesport High school are about to strike. The women teachers have openly rebelled, while the men are quietly encouraging them under the surface. Their cause was yesterday the subject of vigorous addresses delivered before the McKeesport ministerial association by the Rev. J. A. Maxwell, the Rev. J. T. Davis and the Rev. W. S Danley

The trouble is the result of the recent action of the board of controllers in abolishing the normal training in the high school, which threw the work of that department and the instruction of over 100 extra pupils on the other teachers in the building. There has been no provision for increased pay. At the next meeting of the board it is said the teachers will present their grievances through one of their number, and an ultimatum will be given, asking that the extra work be taken off them. Unless the request is complied with many of them will not be at school the next morning.

The Rev. Mr. Davis and the Rev. Mr. Danley stated that some of the high school teachers are becoming nervous wrecks on account of being overworked and that they would be compelled to retire unless relieved of the strain. The Rev. Dr. Maxwell severly criticised the members of the board for their actions and stated that there was no more paradoxical thing than a saloonkeeper deliberating over the best methods of instruction for children and then selling intoxicants that rob the children of money, necessary to send them to school properly clothed.

TAKES OVER LOAN BONDS.

Sinking Fund Commissioner, However, Thinks Rate Higher Than Usual.

The sinking fund commission met yesterday afternoon in the Fidelity building and decided to take over the temporary health loan bonds by immediate purchase. There is more than enough cash in the fund for the purpose, but the whole amount, $500,000, will not be paid into the city treasury at once.

The ordinance authorizing the bonds, provides that they shall be converted into cash as the money is needed by the bureau of health.

Assistant controller E. S. Morrow, who is secretary of the commission, had a requisition for $160,000 which the bureau asked for at once and the commission voted to transfer that sum to the city treasury on which warrants can then be drawn. The commissioners were not wholly satisfied with the rate of interest the bonds bear, and held that they do not compare favorably with other investments the commission has made recently. The majority opinion, however, was in favor of the commission buying the bonds rather than placing them on the market at this time.

STOCK MARKET RALLIED, CLOSING AT THE TOP

The Steel Issues and Pennsylvania Active Leaders of the Advance—Local Industrials Firmer, Closing at Net Gains.

By JOHN O. HAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The erratic course of the stock market during the past two weeks has resulted in an unsettled state of mind on the part of the general public and the professional trader that is most distressing. One day the market is extremely weak without any known cause for the apparently forced liquidation. When it looks like going to pieces, support appears and prices recover. The next day the market may be as strong as it was previously weak, and just as hopes are reviving that the turn has been reached in the long lane there is a sudden outburst of liquidation in some fresh quarter. Then the air is full of rumors reflecting upon the financial standing of individuals and institutions, and everyone looks for the announcement that will reveal the underlying cause of the prolonged depression. The announcement does not come, but the irregularity continues, and then the street elaborates a theory of masterful manipulation, the object of which is to be disclosed in due time. So far this week there have been alternate days of weakness and strength, and periods of the same day when both these features were prominent. Yesterday was the day for stocks to advance, if the immediate past could be accepted as a guide, and the market did advance, but not before there was a display of weakness in a number of specialties. The Bank of England did not change its minimum rate of discount, but consols were lower and American securities declined in the London market. The United States Steel issues did not display the strength expected at the opening, the common selling off to 15¾, the preferred to 60⅝ and the new bonds to 69¼. This was a distinct disappointment, because it was thought that the circular of the finance committee addressed to employes of the corporation who had participated in the profit-sharing plan would be looked upon as a bullish factor. The weakness in Pennsylvania, which declined to 115¾, was also a source of apprehension, but just as the professionals were preparing to again attack values, or rather while they were engaged in that pastime, a buying movement set in which absorbed offerings and gave the market a firm tone. The Steel bonds were unusually active, and despite heavy sales —two prominent houses each marketed $1,000,000 of them—the price steadily advanced, reaching 71 at the close. The common stock rallied to 17 and the preferred to 62¾, and both closed near the best. Pennsylvania also recovered its early loss and became strong, advancing to 119 and closing at the top. These two securities were the leaders of their respective group, and the rest of the market responded to the improvement.

In the afternoon the recovery was slow but uninterrupted, and as the rise made progress the offerings became smaller, indicating that pressing liquidation had been completed. The street, however, was not enthusiastic. Similar rapid changes have become so frequent of late that no one has any faith in the permanency of an advance. The close was firm. The total sales were 745,000 shares.

Wall street was inclined to lay considerable stress upon the election of E. H. Harriman to the directory of Erie. The incident was construed as a uniting of large financial interests whose exact attitude toward each other has been a matter of discussion.

The fact that neither the approach nor actual advent of October settlements disturbed the money market was commented upon as a favorable factor so far as the money market situation is concerned. Call loans were quoted at 2½@3 per cent, and it was reported that 30-day loans were offered at 4½ per cent. Sterling exchange was also easier, and there is a very general expectation that tomorrow's bank statement will make a favorable showing, inasmuch as the banks have thus far this week gained $3,116,000 through sub-treasury operations. The weekly statement of the Bank of England, however, was an extremely unfavorable one and foreshadows additional efforts to so manipulate international exchanges as to prevent a drain of gold from the bank. Loans increased no less than $39,000,000, and the reserve to liability was reduced to 43.98 per cent, as compared with 53.82 per cent last week.

There was a considerable falling off in dealings on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday, and as the tone became firmer during the latter part of the day, the action of the market was taken to mean that the forced liquidation had run its course for the present at least. Manufacturers Light and Heat was the most active issue, about 1,800 shares changing hands. The price declined to and closed at 30. This stock has been better supported than almost any other in the market during the depression, and the reaction yesterday was apparently due to the pool in the stock holding off and letting the market take care of itself. Crucible Steel preferred was weak at the opening and declined to 56, but later in the session recovered to 57. The common declined from 7⅝ to 7⅛ and closed at the latter price. United States Steel preferred made a strong rally to 70⅜ and the common to 16⅞. Westinghouse Airbrake advanced $8 a share to 135, and Electric, after selling off to 62, rallied to 70¼. Pittsburgh Coal common sold off to 24½, but recovered to 24⅝, while the preferred declined to 72¼, but both issues were dull. A small lot of River Coal preferred sold at 34, and the common remained unchanged at 10 bid, 10½ asked. Pittsburgh Brewing was moderately active, selling at 27, and the preferred at 42. A small lot of National Fire Proofing common sold at 16¾, while the preferred, after selling at 28½, rallied to 29.

Bank and trust company stocks were dull and rather heavy. There has been comparatively little selling pressure in this group, and considering the amount of stock carried on margin, particularly of the newer institutions, they have held remarkably well. Commonwealth Trust sold at 190 cash, a decline of 3 per cent. Iron City Trust was 4 per cent lower at 125, and Federal National Bank declined 3 per cent to 137. Equitable Trust sold at 174, as compared with 190, the price at which it is reported options were exercised on a considerable amount of the stock. Allegheny Trust sold unchanged at 145. Bonds were dull and slightly lower.

BIG REALTY RECORD MADE LAST MONTH

Gain of $800,000 Over Corresponding Month in 1902.

BUILDING AND LOAN AFFAIRS

Deal for 12 Acres of Morningside Property Valued at $60,000—Two Costly Churches—Many East End Houses Are Sold.

Another anomaly in real estate records is afforded in the report of the business that passed through the city registrar's office in September. Contrary to the general supposition, which was borne out by the visible activity in realty, more business was handled than in September in any one of the four preceding years. The following table shows the number and amount of the deeds registered in September for each of these periods:

1903	552 deeds.....$4,247,500
1902	558 deeds.....$3,884,700
1901	471 deeds.....$3,375,370
1900	709 deeds.....$2,902,800
1899	539 deeds.....$1,589,000

The gain over September of last year is about $800,000. August of this year had a total of 468 deeds amounting to $4,015,000, so that the record for September shows a gain of $382,000 over that month. August of 1902 had a total of only $3,713,600, making the gain in September, 1903, over the corresponding month in 1902 more than double that in August of this year over that month for 1902, showing a much more healthy condition in the realty market in September. As September had only 25 working days the average daily amount of business was $174,000. The average size of the deals, $7,875 each, is proof that the selling has been very general over the city and that residences properties have predominated in the market.

Societies Are Loaned Up to Limit.

Conditions which have been more or less adverse to the general activity in the real estate market for the past six months have combined to make the business of building and loan associations way above the average. At present these institutions are receiving fully one-third more applications for loans than last year, according to the statement of the manager of one of the largest companies in the city. Some of the companies are loaned up for at least three months ahead and are daily turning down applications for loans for which they cannot secure funds. Most of the loans wanted are for amounts ranging from $1,000 to $1,500 each. A good number of these are for building projects which are not yet under way, the larger part of the loans on houses which are nearly or quite completed, but whose owners cannot meet the debts incurred in building. Since the banks curtailed their loans on mortgages the building and loan associations have had a ready increase in their business. On the other hand, the deposits of these institutions have fallen off somewhat because of the large number of wage earners who have bought homes on the installment plan with their savings. Private funds are still coming forward in good amounts, the prevailing rate of interest paid being about 6 per cent. One very encouraging feature of the situation is that the building and loan borrowers are not falling back in their payments, showing that their incomes have not been cut down appreciably.

Big Deal in Morningside.

The sale is reported of the William Adams property, a tract of 12 acres in Morningside road, Eighteenth ward, for about $60,000, or $5,000 an acre. The property is situated on the north side of the road, fronting on the Hawthorne street and the Stanton Heights allotment. It is between the A. Haller holdings and the W. J. Lyne property, and is directly across the road from the property owned by Leopold Vilsack. For years the land has been used for truck gardening. It is located on the hillside and is admirably adapted for platting, as it is one of the properties that will be greatly benefited by the extension of the car line through the Morningside district, a project which is likely to be undertaken in a few months. The reputed buyer of the property is a well-known real estate man who tenders in part payment 12 reception hall brick houses in Millvale avenue north of Penn avenue. These dwellings are valued at $80,000.

It appears that The Gazette was in error recently in stating that the Pennsylvania Water Company had refused an application for a half dozen meters for an East End builder who has under way 40 houses, and insisting that he should contract for the 40 meters at $15 each. The company's charge for meters is $12 for the meter, $10 for service pipe on an unpaved street, $15 for service pipe on a paved street—other than asphalt—and more to an asphalt street, according to the sum needed to replace the pavement.

Architect Titus de Bobula is working on plans for a Roman Catholic church at Connellsville which will cost $35,000. The same architect is taking estimates on the convent, parish house and school of St. Michael's Roman Catholic church in Braddock. The buildings will cost $45,000.

The former Samuel Denholm property at the northeast corner of Baum and Whitfield streets, Twentieth ward, has been sold for $16,400, the buyer being Andrew W. Mellon, who secured it from Joseph F. Paull. The lot measures 60x156.5 feet and has erected on it a modern 10-room residence.

Two East End Houses Sold.

Two residence properties at the corner of Jackson street and Heberton avenue, Nineteenth ward, have been sold by James J. Booth to Charles G. Mitchell for $8,832 and $5,800, respectively. The lots are 48x130 feet and 58x131 feet, and are improved with reception hall houses.

Dauphin street: A. H. Thompson sold for John Reiman to R. H. Thompson an improved lot, 25x125 feet, on the west side of Dauphin street, near Pacific avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $3,500.

Almeda street: Mary E. Byron sold to Anthony Devine an improved lot, 33x150 feet, at the northeast corner of Second avenue and Almeda street, Twenty-third ward, for $1,500.

Graham street: C. C. Hamilton sold for W. E. & S. E. Bown to George A. Chinn an improved lot, 30x100 feet, on Graham street, near Friendship avenue, Twentieth ward, for $7,500.

Building permits were issued yesterday to the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church for a two-story chapel at Friendship and South Negley avenues, Twentieth ward, to cost $20,000; the Mt. MILLFEED PRICES SOMEWHAT EASIER

Sweet Potatoes Are Plentiful and Lower — Tomatoes Abundant and Cheap.

There is a somewhat easier feeling in the market for millfeed, and quotations show a slight decline from those ruling earlier in the week. Middlings have gone off about 50 cents a ton, and bran has declined to $18 75 as the top notation, a fall of 75 cents. At these figures the situation is steady, and sellers are not inclined to make concessions. The lower prices which have ruled shelled corn for several days are partly responsible for the decline in millfeed, the reduction in a measure being sympathetic, as there are no heavy receipts to force the market down. Oats are holding steady as quoted, with receipts moderate. Hay is firm, best grades showing more firmness than they did several days ago when there was some indication of a weakening market.

A decline occurred in sweet potatoes, Jersey fancies going down to $3 25 as top figure. Receipts of sweet potatoes have been quite liberal for a few days, and the market is somewhat broken. Irish potatoes are quite steady at the advance of the first part of the week, arrivals not being as heavy as they were a week or two ago. Farmers are giving their attention to digging potatoes, and the digging potatoes to any great extent, so that consignments to distributing markets are temporarily short. Just how the crop will run this year is not known. There are enough potatoes in the ground, if they turn out well, but there have been some indications of rot, the extent of which will not be known until digging is further along. However, probabilities favor at least a fair supply of potatoes, which may prove to be abundant. The recent advance is not due to shortage through the country, but merely to decreased receipts here, which will not likely be a prolonged condition.

There were liberal offerings of tomatoes in the market yesterday and while some sellers held fancy stock up to quotations, there was a breaking of prices which resulted in sales here and there at very low figures. Squash is now plentiful, and prices have declined. Wing beans, cucumbers, peppers and quotations have moved forward, 20 cents now being the quotation for fancy stock.

A wider range of prices is necessary to cover the peach situation, the quality of the offerings varying considerably. Aside from this fruit prices remained as quoted yesterday morning.

Chestnuts are commanding 18 to 20 cents a pound, and mixed nuts are bringing 12 cents.

There is no change in butter, eggs, cheese or poultry. Demand is steady in all these lines, and the list of quotations is firm, cheese alone showing a decided tendency to advance.

There was nothing in the way of special feature in the grocery market, prices for all staples remaining as last quoted. Coffee continues very firm, and other advances are not improbable. Sugar is quiet, while flour appears to be steady and selling well. Demand for navy beans is increasing and prices are strong.

WHEAT MARKET RALLIED WITH INCREASED TRADE

Corn and Oats, However, Closed Lower Yesterday in the Chicago Pits.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The volume of trading in wheat was larger than for some time past, with the December option leading in demand. Opening prices were weak in sympathy with the lower cables in December, declining 2c at 74½@74¾c at 74⅞@75c and during the first hour of the session there was little change in values. Local traders sold freely in the day and there was some selling by commission houses, but the display and strength in cash wheat soon became evident, and this helped the future deliveries. Elevator interests were good buyers of December later in the day, and with only little offerings the market became strong. At the session advanced prices continued to ascend, December selling up to 78¾c. Primary receipts were 1,618,000 bushels, against 1,305,000 bushels a year ago. Shipments from Duluth reported receipts of 662 cars, which, with local receipts of 47 cars, one of contract grade, made total receipts for the three points 709 cars, against 718 cars last week and 1054 cars a year ago.

The early corn market showed signs of severe demoralization, and for a time there appeared to be no bottom to prices. Liquidation, together with bearish crop reports, were responsible for the opening weakness. Later a firmer tone developed on buying by different commission houses which appeared considerably buying by shorts, and much of the early loss was regained. A smaller tone prevailed toward the close and selling seemed fairly well distributed, closing 2¼@2½c under last night. Local receipts were 258 cars, with 58 of contract grade.

Oats, like corn, opened weak under general commission house selling, but the market soon became covering by shorts on the break to bring about a moderate recovery toward the noon hour. Receipts continued light, but commercial offerings were liberal. The close was steady, with December off ½c at 30c, after ranging between 29¾@30¼c. Local receipts were 121 cars.

Provisions held up comparatively well in view of the weakness in corn and a decline of 10c in the price of hogs. There was no special feature to the trading, the bulk of October product being cleared up and a good demand for the fresh packers. The close was steady, with January pork up 2½c at $12 47½, January lard down 2½c at $6 85 and ribs of 10c at $6 55@6 60.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 42 cars; corn, 400 cars; oats, 145 cars; hogs, 34,000 head.

Million-Dollar Work on West Penn Is at Last All But Completed

Within a very short time all the gangs of construction men who have been busily engaged in practically rebuilding the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania railroad, will be called in, as work is all but completed.

Nearly $1,000,000 has been spent altogether on this work and the result has been to double the freight capacity. Over 200 years has been taken to complete this reconstruction, which extended along many parts of the division.

The work at Leechburg where the line was changed and practically a new railroad built for two and one-half miles, was one of the largest single pieces of this work. The cost of this was $185,000. Capt. D. F. Keenan had the contract.

A still larger piece of work was the double-tracking of the Bolivar branch from Blairsville to Bolivar Junction, which has cost $200,000. The distance is close upon seven miles. Gossler & Brownback were the contractors.

The double track work at West Apollo and Salina cost about $150,000 and extends for six and a half miles. The third track at Edri for a distance of one mile cost $25,000. The contractor for both the West Apollo and the Edri work was Joseph Gianini.

The project to build a freight cutoff from Oregon to a connection with the West Penn railroad has never been pushed. A survey or two was made, but it was found that the cost would be higher than had been expected. For that reason the plan has been postponed, if not abandoned. If the exceedingly large freight movement should continue this work may be done. The building of the line from Enon to Redbank, however, serves as a freight cutoff for western business and to a large extent takes the place of the proposed West Penn line.

WANT THIS STATE TO BE A LEADER

Strenuous Effort Being Made to Have Good Educational Exhibit at St. Louis.

TO ENCOURAGE STUDENTS

Preliminary Show Arranged at Which Prizes Will Be Awarded to School Having Best Specimens of Work. Best Will Be Taken to Big Show.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 1.

One of the most pleasing attractions at the Louisiana Purchase exposition, to be held in St. Louis next year, will be the display of educational systems and educational agencies from all the leading nations of the world.

It is the desire of the Pennsylvania commission that the state shall be one of the leading exhibitors in this department. In order to do this the commission has decided to hold a preliminary state exhibit at West Chester, Pa., and to award prizes to schools sending the best work in their class. These prizes of the value of $30, $20 and $10 each, are to be awarded for the best exhibit in each of the following: Ungraded schools, graded schools, high schools and manual training schools.

It is the desire of the state superintendent of schools and the commissioners that the exhibit shall represent fairly what the pupils in the schools in the state are doing daily and that the representations of methods used and the results obtained shall allow visitors to see how education in Pennsylvania is advanced in all grades and conditions of schools. It is hoped that the school work will be so displayed that the casual observer will be interested as well as the student of educational methods.

The authorities of the St. Louis exposition have allotted to Pennsylvania in the Palace of Education, space of the most available character. It is near the main entrance to the building and is the largest granted to any state.

The preliminary exhibit to be held at West Chester some time next February, will be in charge of Prof. Addison L. Jones, superintendent of public schools of West Chester, and former president of the teachers' state association.

The prizes to be given for the best exhibits sent to West Chester, from which the selection for the state display will be made will be awarded by a committee of experts in school matters. The committee will be selected by the Pennsylvania commissioners committee on education, and will be absolutely impartial, having no object but to promote the presentation of an educational exhibit worthy of the commonwealth and creditable to all who participate in the work.

YOUNG OFFICERS DEFY GEN. CORBIN'S WISHES

Ten of the Twenty-Second Infantry Will Take Brides to Manila With Them.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The Twenty-second infantry has given Gen. Corbin's anti-marriage proclamation a severe jolt. The officers of that gallant regiment are contemplating a sort of round robin wedding. Ten of them will take brides with them when the Sheridan sails from San Francisco for Manila October 31.

Gen. S. B. M. Young's daughter, Miss Elizabeth Young, will be one of these brides as she marries Captain John R. R. Hannay of the Twenty-second on October 7. This general surrender of the bachelor warriors of the Twenty-second to hymen is causing no end of fun in army circles. Capt. Hannay has had great trouble to secure ushers. He asked one and another of his brothers in arms of the Twenty-second to stand by him, but was informed that they had similar business on hand already. He had to go outside of the regiment and was compelled to utilize married comrades to eke out his complement of ushers. The ten young officers who will take to themselves brides are Captains Hannay and Stone, Lieuts. Adolph Huget, Curtis, William A. Kent of Beaver avenue, Allegheny, Pa., Justice, Ripley, Taylor, Parchall and Whitfield.

ABDUL HAMID RECALLS MINISTER TO GERMANY

Significant but Unexplained Development Bearing on Balkan Situation.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, October 1.—The sudden recalling of Tewfik Pasha, ambassador of the sultan to the German imperial court, is being discussed by every paper in Germany. Coming at a time when the czar and Emperor Francis Joseph are deliberating at Schoenbrunn, and when the fate of the Ottoman empire may be decided upon, this movement of the sultan in recalling his ambassador is extremely significant. The idea that the kaiser as ruler of a Christian nation should have a secret understanding with the murderer of thousands of Christians is ridiculed by the conservative press, who state that since the Kaiser Wilhelm's visit to Francis Joseph he is informed of every detail which will be taken up between the czar and the emperor.

It is furthermore said that the kaiser has agreed to raise no objections against the plans of Russia and Austria, if it should be necessary for these two powers to send troops into the Balkan peninsula.

"MRS. WIGGS" MAKES HIT IN SEASHORE THEATER

Dramatization of Two Clever Stories Realizes Expectations of Audience.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 1.—"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" had its opening presentation at Young's Pier theater here tonight and to an audience which in size and appreciation must have been very satisfying to all parties interested. The dramatist seems to have done very clever work with a difficult task, for Mrs. Wiggs is a compound, of not one but two books, and practically two sets of characters. The piece made a great hit, which is perhaps in good part to be attributed to the merit of the performers, for the play seems most admirably cast. Mrs. Madge Carr Cooke is an ideal Mrs. Wiggs in her make-up, and in manner, voice and gesture, filled all requirements.

THE STAKE INCREASED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Secretary Kebberger of the Brooklyn Jockey club today announced that the value of the stake of the Brooklyn handicap for 1904 would be $20,000 guaranteed instead of $10,000 added as formerly.

Secretary Fellowes of the Coney Island Jockey club also announced the following changes in values of stakes for 1904. The Suburban to be $20,000 guaranteed instead of $10,000 added; the Advance to be $15,000 guaranteed, formerly $5,000 added; June handicaps $7,500, instead of $4,500 added; death part of the double event to be $10,000 instead of $5,000 guaranteed; all stakes for 3-year-olds and upwards at distances of one mile or over, formerly $1,500 to $2,000 added to each, to be $3,500 added to each; all stakes for 2-year-olds which were $1,000 added to each, to be $2,000 added to each.

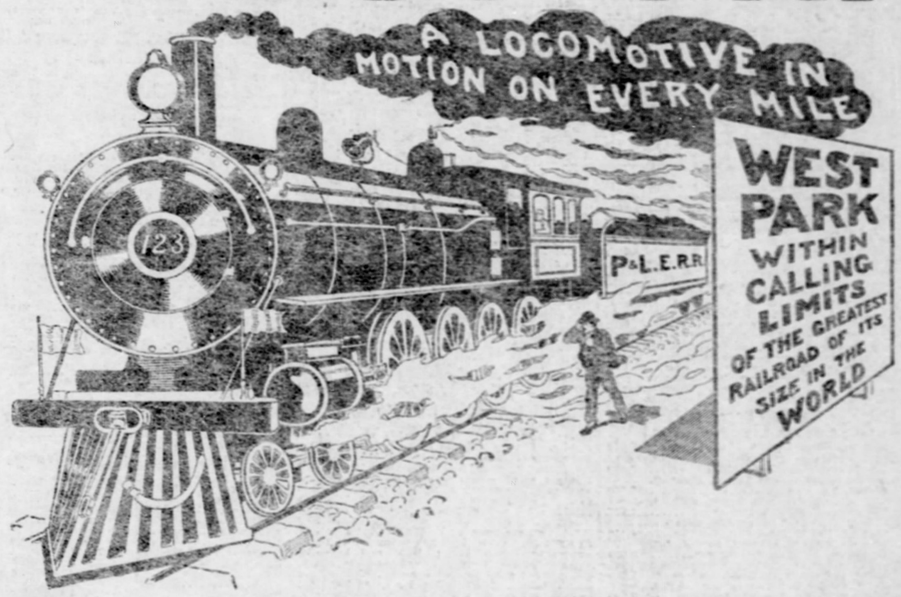
WEST PARK.



A LOCOMOTIVE IN MOTION ON EVERY MILE

WEST PARK WITHIN CALLING LIMITS OF THE GREATEST RAILROAD OF ITS SIZE IN THE WORLD

The terms are $2 down. Then $1 and $2 a week for balance.

No taxes are charged. You will never have any interest to pay. Just a plain, unadulterated $2 down and $1 or $2 a week.

Take McKees Rocks Cars Marked West Park, at Liberty Ave. and 5th St.

Having been tremendously successful in selling and building up the three previous West Park plans, the West End Land Company has decided to reduce the whole proposition to a matter of bookkeeping or cash, by winding-up through the above extraordinary offer all the selling at one quick flash, doing away with the future expense of employing Salesmen, Ground Managers, &c.

These are a number of instances demonstrating the future that is in store for West Park property. While we are on this fact we wish to direct your notice to a very significant point which we have not fully explained. You remember that we said some time ago that McKees Rocks has moved up five squares toward West Park since West Park was opened. The "moving-up business" continues and assumes greater magnitude as the months roll on. Isn't it easy for an investor to understand what it all means? Does it take any practical eye long to see that the same tremendous increases in property values which have been realized down in McKees Rocks will soon be duplicated in West Park? If the disposition of business men is to look to West Park for an outlet for the congestion in the old part of the borough, is there any doubt but what Broadway of West Park will become the leading mercantile street for the whole population of this part of Greater Pittsburgh? That being the case, it would be impossible to put a limit to the future value of any of the frontage on Broadway. There is not such another real estate condition or opportunity west or south of the Ohio River. What makes this especially true is the fact that the property we now offer is the only piece left of the locality which will some day become the highest priced part of McKees Rocks.
